O'DWYER RESIGNS MEXICAN POST

Marylander Joins Ike's Official Family

Bethesda Man Named Deputy Atty. General

Vandenberg Gets Secretarial Post

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower chose two more members of his official family today—his White House secretary and a deputy attorney general.

Eisenhower named Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., son of the late Michigan senator, as White House secretary. He will succeed Matthew Connelly.

The general also appointed William P. Rogers, of Bethesda, Md., young but experienced corruption and racket buster, as deputy attorney general.

James C. Hagerty, his press secretary, said Eisenhower would spend Thanksgiving at home and return to his office Friday to begin a schedule of appointments running through Sunday.

Ike To Spend Holiday At Home

Hagerty said members of the President-elect's family would be with him at his Columbia University home tomorrow for the holiday.

Vandenberg, whose home is in Grand Rapids, Mich., has been a member of Eisenhower's staff since the beginning of the general's campaign for the GOP presidential nomination.

Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, recently designated as assistant to the President in the new administration, issued a statement saying Vandenberg would be secretary.

He will handle appointments for the president and will have what were described as "expanded" duties over those that previously went with the post.

Vandenberg, 45 and a bachelor, was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1928 and served as assistant to his father.

Rogers, 39, member of a Washington, D. C., law firm, is a political ally of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

McKeldin Sees Crackdown

His appointment coincided with a prediction by Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland that Eisenhower's Republican regime would crack down on corruption, "some of which has not even been suspected."

"Many who think they have fixed things with the attorney general and escaped their just penalties may find their cases re-opened," McKeldin said in a speech here shortly before calling on Eisenhower.

There was no word as to when Eisenhower would leave on his Korean trip.

But today he received a first-hand report on Korea from Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense in charge of manpower, who returned from the war-torn country a few days ago.

Asked whether the President-elect had asked her to remain in the Defense Department, she laughed and said:

"I went to Washington only for eight months. That was two years ago."

Chinese Reds Reject Indian Plan For Korea Peace, Vishinsky Says

TAPPED BY IKE—William P. Rogers, Bethesda, Md., smiles after being named yesterday as deputy attorney general in the Eisenhower administration. Rogers formerly served as chief counsel of the Senate War Investigating Committee.

Soviet Delegate Declares U. N. Wasting Time

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 26 (AP) — Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the U. N. Political Committee today that Red China rejected India's compromise peace plan for Korea two days ago. That was the same day Vishinsky turned it down for the Soviet Union.

The United States delegation said while Vishinsky spoke that it will leave up to President-Elect Dwight D. Eisenhower any further moves for peace in Korea if the Indian plan is officially and finally rebuffed by the Communist Chinese and the North Koreans.

A high Indian source said his delegation had received word only this morning of Red China's attitude, relayed through New Delhi.

"You can call it a rejection," this source said, "but we call it objections. The more objections we receive the more we must push our efforts."

Plan Voted Top Priority

Over the sustained and vociferous objections of Vishinsky the Political Committee voted 49 to 5, with Nationalist China abstaining to give top priority to the Indian peace plan, which is expected to be amended in such a way as to meet U. S. objections.

Vishinsky said the committee was wasting its time in view of Peiping's negative reply.

In a surprise move, he submitted a series of amendments to the New Delhi proposal submitted by V. R. Krishna Menon, deputy Indian delegate. These would have the effect of substituting Vishinsky's own peace plan for the Menon plan.

Members of the committe said after the meeting they would vote down Vishinsky's amendments. The Russians want a cease-fire now and negotiations later by an 11 nation commission for a settlement, including the question of repatriation of prisoners.

U. S. Proposal Incorporated

Menon proposed creation of a four-nation repatriation commission to handle the prisoners of war after a cease fire is in effect. He incorporated the United States proposal for non-forcible repatriation and Vishinsky objected that it was merely another version of a United States resolution along the same lines.

The American delegation spokesman, meanwhile, said the U. S. and its allies still are supporting the Indian plan. An argument over this support caused a serious split between the United States and Britain last weekend but strenuous efforts by diplomats of those two countries are reported to have resulted in a formula which both can support.

Putnam, Saying Controls Needed, Calls In DiSalle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) —The administration seemed committed today to keep price and wage controls until Congress lets them die —perhaps on April 30.

After calling former Price Boss Michael V. DiSalle here to advise on control methods and policy during the swan-song days of the administration, Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam told assembled OPS officials:

"I want everyone here to realize, and the public too, that we still have a job to do and a law to administer.

"We still need controls in many places."

Favors 14-Month Extension

Putnam favors a 14-month extension of anti-inflation powers—until mid-1954. He said he hoped DiSalle's return as a special consultant to him would quash reports of imminent abandonment of ceilings.

The reports broke into print on Monday when Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said he had information that President Truman was considering killing wage and price ceilings before the new, Republican-dominated Congress meets on Jan. 3.

The White House later said Truman had no such plan, but OPS workers, already jarred by the announced resignation of Price Director Tighe E. Woods, were uncertain whether they had a control program or not. Some were making plans to quit Washington.

Freehill To Direct OPS

Putnam today named Joseph H. Freehill, formerly Wood's deputy, to be acting director of OPS. Then Putnam called the OPS staff together and reassured it that controls will be maintained.

DiSalle's arrival on Dec. 1 will coincide with the effective date of Wood's resignation. Putnam said, however, that the chubby Ohioan will remain only "a week or two" and will not resume command of the price agency which he headed until February.

Thanksgiving Day Treat Coming Up

Howard Nelson, Jr., two and a half, is just about crowded out of his mother's shopping basket at Bismarck, N. D., but the gleam in his eyes over thoughts of today's Thanksgiving dinner indicates he doesn't mind too much.

Ambassador Drew Crime Probe's Fire

Ex-N. Y. Mayor's Plans Not Known

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) — William O'Dwyer resigned today as ambassador to Mexico.

The White House announced that his resignation has been received by President Truman and has been accepted effective at midnight, Dec. 6.

O'Dwyer is a former mayor of New York City.

He resigned the mayoralty post in August, 1950, to accept an appointment as ambassador to Mexico.

After O'Dwyer left the country he became a controversial figure in the news.

The Senate Crime Committee said in one of its reports that he had contributed to the growth of crime in New York. An investigation had uncovered extensive evidence of police graft during his administration.

Truman Refused To Recall Him

Demands were made by some members of Congress that Truman recall O'Dwyer but the President paid no heed to them.

O'Dwyer contended he had done nothing wrong. He once said: "My public life is a matter of record and a careful examination of that record will refute any attempt to associate it with anything that was not for the benefit of the people."

Only last July, there were reports that O'Dwyer intended to resign and would remain in Mexico, practicing law there, and become a Mexican citizen.

O'Dwyer denied he intended to become a Mexican citizen and said he would submit his resignation as a normal procedure when President Truman's successor took office.

Future Plans Not Revealed

The White House made public letters exchanged between O'Dwyer and the President. They gave no hint of O'Dwyer's future plans.

O'Dwyer's letter was dated Nov. 19.

Truman wrote that he accepted the resignation "with reluctance". His letter said:

"I know full well that in your departure from office our nation will lose the services of one of the most effective representatives it has ever sent to the great neighboring country of Mexico."

O'Dwyer's resignation gave no reason why he is quitting. The effective date is about a month and a half before the Republican administration takes over in Washington.

Death Demanded For 14 Former Top Czech Reds

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 26 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist government today demanded a sentence of death by hanging for 14 former leading Communists who for a week have poured out long and fantastic confessions of crimes against communism and the Soviet Union.

Sentences are expected to be imposed in Prague tomorrow on Rudolf Slansky, former Moscow favorite and secretary general of the Czechoslovak Communist Party; Vlado Clementis, former foreign minister; and 12 others. All but three of the defendants are Jews.

Anti-Jewish Attacks Erupt

The strong anti-Semitic tone of the trial—all were accused of plotting with Israel and Zionist "capitalists"—had its echo in a report from a highly reliable source that open anti-Jewish attacks have erupted in Bratislava, Slovakia. Nazi-like chalked signs saying "Jews," or "Jews live here" were reported smeared on the doors of Jewish homes there.

This report said the words "Down with the Jewish capitalists" were splashed in front of a synagogue and on the streets. When the Jews complained to police, the informant said, they were told that if they were really workers for the state they had nothing to worry about and there was no need to remove the signs.

Reds Wonder "Who's Next?"

The Prague radio announced the prosecution had completed its summary against the 14 accused of treason, sabotage, spying and plotting against the state. Chief Prosecutor Dr. Josef Urvalek demanded the extreme penalty for all.

Possibly to pave the way for such sentences, the Communist newspaper Rude Pravo has been reporting demands from "hundreds of thousands" of workers that the 14 be hanged.

The violence of the attack on Zionism is reported to have sent a shudder of fear through Communist states in other parts of Eastern Europe. Reports reaching here from Hungary, Romania, Poland and East Germany picture the Communists as wondering "who is next?"

Mamie Will Tour Home-To-Be Jan. 20

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) — The White House announced today that Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower will come down from New York Monday to go through the executive mansion where she and the President-elect will live after January 20.

Mrs. James Helm, White House social secretary, said Mrs. Eisenhower telephoned Mrs. Harry S. Truman to ask if this would be agreeable, and that Mrs. Truman immediately invited her.

Yank Missing In Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP)—The U. S. Army announced today that an officer of the Sixth Infantry Regiment has been missing for two days in West Berlin. His identity was not disclosed.

U.S. Army Probes Ammo Explosion

CHALONS-SUR-MARNE, France, Nov. 26 (AP)—Three carloads of U. S. Army ammunition blew up in a railway switch yard here today, setting fire to 25 freight cars on adjoining tracks and ripping up 20 lengths of rail.

U. S. Army ordnance and bomb demolition experts probed the still burning ruins tonight in an effort to learn whether sabotage caused the blast.

Though the damage was extensive, no one was injured.

Headquarters of the U. S. Army communications zone at Orleans, nerve center of the American armed forces supply system from the French Atlantic ports of La Rochelle and Bordeaux to Germany, said the responsibility for the security of ammunition trains rests with the French.

The explosion echoed through this town of 28,000 at 9:30 a. m. One of 12 carloads of ammunition blew up, setting fires and explosions in two other ammunition cars in the same train, a U. S. Army spokesman said. Then the fire spread to loaded cars on the adjoining tracks.

TAIPEH, Formosa, Nov. 26 (AP)—Five Chinese convicted of spying for Communist China were executed yesterday.

At Least 13 Dead As Midwest Gets Winter Preview

[By The Associated Press]

The weather gave most of the Midwest an early winter knockout punch yestetrday, leaving at least 13 persons dead and traffic tied up from the mountain areas of Colorado and Wyoming through Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. It hit Illinois in more moderate form.

Winds up to 50 an hour combined with snowfall totalling as much as a foot in some places to tie up traffic and maroon hundreds of persons in buses and private motor cars.

Colder weather was moving eastward after temperatures plummeted below zero in the mountain area—32 below at West Yellowstone on the Wyoming-Montana border.

Most railroad lines were kept open, but the Santa Fe's Superchief luxury train from Chicago to California rammed into a snow drift near Macksville, Kas., with such force that the locomotive was damaged and snow crews had to work eight hours to free it. No one was injured.

While this train was having its troubles, other trains of the Santa Fe and Union Pacific Railroads were rescuing stranded motorists—hundreds of them—from snowbound highways adjacent to the railroad tracks.

Near New Cambria, Kas., one group of stranded students had to form a human chain to reach the rescue train from their stalled automobiles as the wind became too powerful for individuals to buck.

Wichita, Kas., was the hardest hit city. This city of 170,000 population had public transportation and power disrupted for a time. Schools cancelled classes.

Eight deaths were charged to the storm in Iowa and Nebraska, three in Kansas and one each in Texas and California.

Two babies were born to storm refugees in Iowa, and numerous injuries were reported as a direct result of the weather.

Winds exceeded 60 miles an hour at Omaha and whipped a five-inch snowfall into huge drifts.

Phone Operator Thwarts Robbery

POCOMOKE CITY, Nov. 26 (AP) — Failure to give a telephone operator a number resulted today in a number behind bars for 20-year-old Avery Prettyman.

Police Chief Arthur W. Brittingham credited the operator, Mrs. Marie Corbin, with the arrest of Prettyman and two juveniles on burglary charges.

The three were picked up after Mrs. Corbin spotted No. 551 flashing on her switchboard. That's Marion Pope's food store, and it's unusual for anyone to call from there after midnight.

"Number please?" asked Mrs. Corbin.

The light blinked off.

Mrs. Corbin called the cops, who trapped a 14-year-old boy in the store and later rounded up another teen-ager and Prettyman. Officers learned that one of the burglars had bumped into the telephone, knocking the receiver off the hook and making their presence known.

Vet Administration Shakeup Announced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—A shakeup aimed at bringing about stream-lining, a yearly saving of perhaps 10 million dollars, and better service in the sprawling Veterans Administration was announced today by Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray.

The heart of the plan is to set up three major departments in VA. One will handle medical and surgical care for veterans. Another will be in charge of insurance. A third will manage such benefits as claims, loan guarantees and vocational training. Instead of a dozen operating agencies responsible directly to him, Gray said, there now will be three—headed by deputy administrators.

Carpenter Killed

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 26 (AP)—Norbert O'Donnell, 50-year-old carpenter from Clarksville, was killed today when a platform at the nearby Rocky Gorge Dam project collapsed, hurling him head-first 25 feet to the ground.

New York Dock Strike Expected To End Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—A thousand defiant dock workers struck a busy section of New York's rackets-ridden waterfront today to protest a state crime probe of some of their union leaders. They were expected to resume work tomorrow.

Two of the world's biggest ships —the liners Queen Elizabeth and the United States—were caught in the tieup. Some 3,000 of their passengers had to wrestle their own luggage ashore. Two smaller liners also were caught.

The Cunard Line, which operates the Queen Elizabeth, called the work stoppage a "political strike."

Probers Ignore Demonstration

The State Crime Commission ignored the demonstration and went right on subpoenaing members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association to ask them about waterfront racketeering.

Two key members of the ILA's Local 824 were summoned from midtown piers to testify in private before the commission. They refused to answer questions however, and were told to come back for public hearings starting Dec. 3.

The two are Harold Bowers, a union organizer, and his ex-convict cousin, Mickey Bowers.

Ryan Sees Men Returning

Members of their local refused to answer the morning shapeup, the lineup where dockers draw their daily pier assignments.

The work stoppage spread along North River piers from 44th to 50th Street, involving some members of Local 795.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the ILA, said the whole thing should blow over with the return to the piers of the subpoenaed dockers. He said he had assurances everything will be "back to normal tomorrow morning."

U. S. Casualties In Korea Drop

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (INS)—The Pentagon reported today that last week's U. S. casualties in Korea reached the lowest total in five months and gave credit to increased use of South Korean troops for the sharp drop in American losses.

Americans killed, wounded and missing last week totaled 271. This compared with figures of 1,278, 1,174, and 1,318, respectively, for the three preceding weeks.

Defense officials said the decline in U. S. casualties reflects a new policy of turning over the front lines to South Koreans wherever such action is possible. A spokesman added that slow-up of fighting with the onset of winter also was a factor.

American casualties since the start of the war now stand at 126,997 . . . 19,939 killed in action, 94,036 wounded, and 13,022 missing. The total of known American dead is 22,258.

Baltimore Begins Fluorinating Water

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26 (AP)—Baltimore began fluorinating its water today to reduce children's tooth decay.

Turning a switch to set the fluorination process in motion at the Montebello filtration works, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro boasted the city is the largest in the world to take this step.

Texan, Gunsights On Blink, Bags 5th MIG, Becomes Ace

SEOUL, Thursday, Nov. 27 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force crowned its 24th jet ace today—a Texan who went in to rescue a buddy and shot down his fifth MIG with gunsights that weren't working.

Sabre jets fought Communist MIGs over Northwest Korea yesterday, but pilots made no victory claims. There was little action on the front.

The 24th ace made his kill last Saturday. The Fifth Air Force did not announce it until Thanksgiving Eve, after studying film from his gun camera.

The new ace is Lt. Cecil G. Foster, 27, of San Antonio, Tex. He told about it today.

Foster and his wingman—Lt. Edmond G. Hepner of Selma, Okla.—had run almost out of fuel in four head-on passes with four Communists MIGs, and had headed for home with the Red jets chasing them.

The Communist planes started firing at Hepner.

"I did a roll over the first MIG and latched onto the second one who had already moved in behind Hepner," Foster said. "My sight was out and I had to fire by tracers."

Foster emptied his guns at 400 feet, and the MIG pilot bailed out. The two Americans had just enough fuel to get back to base.

GIs Eat Thanksgiving Turkey On Quiet Korean Front Lines

SEOUL, Thursday, Nov. 27 (AP) — American front line troops ate full course Thanksgiving dinners today with the warning from their commander that "godless communism wants no peace" in Korea.

Holiday feasts were preceded by religious services of all faiths — held even in front line dugouts—more elaborate than on either of the two preceding Thanksgiving days of the Korean War.

Battle lines were relatively quiet as the day dawned.

The traditional turkey dinner, from shrimp cocktail to nuts and 18 ounces of turkey per man, was prepared for every soldier in Korea.

They shared the American feast with troops of almost every other one of the 21 United Nations fighting in Korea.

Some of the nations' soldiers do not care for the turkey menu.

Here is the Thanksgiving Day menu:

Shrimp cocktail; stuffed celery, olives, pickles; roast young tom turkey with poultry dressing and giblet gravy; cranberry sauce; snow flaked potatoes and buttered peas; cole slaw; hot parker house rolls and oleomargarine; pumpkin pie and fruit cake; apples, tangerines and oranges; candy and mixed nuts; coffee.

"We have a large allowance of everything," said Col. J. D. Bell of La Canada, Calif., and Bellwood, Neb., the Eighth Army quartermaster. "Every man gets a real Thanksgiving dinner."

Some American outfits in the rear shared dinners with Korean war orphans. And everywhere U.S. Army chaplains of all faiths arranged services for all soldiers who could be spared from the lines.

"Last year at this time we thought that peace would be here before Thanksgiving came around again," Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander told his troops.

"But it is communism we are fighting, not the innocent North Koreans, or the Chinese people—and godless communism wants no peace until the free peoples of the world have all been enslaved under their world government. x x x

"Let us all thank God that we have allies to fight with us and that we have a united team in Korea."

Seoul, Preparing For Ike's Visit, Takes Security Steps

SEOUL, Thursday, Nov. 27 (AP)—Seoul was clamped today under the tightest security measures this war-battered capital has ever known.

Thousands of South Korean army troops, metropolitan police and plain clothesmen turned the city into an armed camp as they took every precaution for the safety of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower during his forthcoming visit to Korea.

An unannounced number of "security risks" were rounded up. Jails were packed with them.

Security guards were posted every 10 to 20 yards along the main thoroughfares.

South Korean President Syngman Rhee called a special cabinet meeting this afternoon in Seoul, presumably to discuss preparations for the Eisenhower visit and protocol in welcoming him.

Among the welcomers will be an old West Point classmate of Eisenhower's, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of United Nations ground forces in Korea.

An officer who knows both generals said "it will be a meeting of old buddies."

No Paper Tomorrow

The Cumberland News will not be published tomorrow due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

Prayers For Victims Of Persecution Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) — Leaders of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States today issued a call for prayers for victims of religious persecution in "countries conquered by the hosts of atheistic materialism."

The statement, signed by archbishops and bishops, was issued through the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

It said millions of Catholics, including cardinals, bishops and tens of thousands of priests, have been victims of persecution.

Steels, Rails Push Market To Another New 1952 High

All security and commodity markets will be closed tomorrow in the United States in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 80 cents and closed at $111.70, a new high for the year.

Union Pacific provided some excitement on small turnover when directors declared an extra of $1 and the regular $1.25, making payments this year the same as last year's $6. The stock closed up ¼ at 115¾.

It was followed by Pennsylvania Railroads up ½ at 20⅝, Zonite Products up ⅜ at 4¾, American Airlines up ⅜ at 15⅛, and U. S. Rubber up ⅞ at 28¾.

Betty Whitten, R.F.D. No. 1, Box 325, Frostburg, Maryland, Complainant, vs. Jimmy Junior Whitten, c/o Mrs. Elsie Judge, 1131 S. Sheridan Ave., Ottumwa, Iowa, Respondent, No. 22977 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Complainant, Betty Whitten, from the Respondent, Jimmy Junior Whitten.

The Bill of Complaint states that the Complainant is an adult resident of Allegany County where she has resided for more than one year prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint; that the parties were married on December 8, 1944 by a duly ordained minister in Elkton, Cecil County, Maryland; and thereafter, the parties lived in various states, and although the conduct of the Complainant was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Respondent did, without any just cause or reason, abandon and desert her on or about March 12, 1948, and that such abandonment has continued interruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that two children were born of said marriage, Joe Junior Whitten, May 9, 1946, and Charles Wesley Whitten, October 26, 1947, who are now in the custody of the Complainant. The Bill further recites that the Respondent is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his last known address appears in the heading of the suit.

It is thereupon, this 20th day of November, 1952, by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Complainant cause a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 22nd day of December, 1952, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the purpose of this suit and warning him to appear in this Court on or before the 8th day of January, 1953, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree shall not be passed as prayed.

One In A Quadrillion

Galileo and his telescope have much to answer for. They and their descendants have displayed the earth as the center of the universe to a relative position like a grain of sand on the beach. And that's no exaggeration. For all man knows to the contrary, there may be 1,000,000,000,000,000 inhabited planets in space. A quadrillion, that is.

This enormous figure is cited by Nobel prize winner Dr. Harold C. Urey as the number of heavenly bodies which may now sustain life. The estimated total of bodies in space is a thousand times that, and it seems likely, astronomers believe, that one in a thousand of these bodies is at the stage of development where life is possible.

What kind of life is another matter. Recognizable human life has existed on this planet for only a small fraction of the earth's history, and may not exist many centuries more, now that the Pandora's box of the atom has been opened. But there are other worlds, and other forms of life. And while the existence of animal or human life on other worlds have never been established, evidence favors it.

Scientists now believe that life can evolve spontaneously where conditions are ripe. There is a proliferation of chemical compounds reacting with one another in the seas of such a lifeless world. Larger and larger molecules come into being, behaving more and more like one-celled living creatures, until some of them go over the line. Once the process is started, changing and more complex forms are evolved.

Of course the theory is only a theory—as what theory isn't—but it is of awesome magnitude. Nevertheless the conditions for life as man knows it are too onerous. There must be water, and atmosphere oxygen. Average temperatures must be well below the boiling point of water, and probably above the freezing point. There must be nitrogen and carbon. There must be light of suitable intensity, and the planet must not be too big or too small to provide reasonable gravitational pull and atmospheric density.

In our own solar system, Mars probably passed through such a period fairly recently, and if space travelers ever reach it their archeologists will delve deep. Venus may enter such a period later, and if earthmen reach its surface millenniums hence they may witness the beginings of life.

Meanwhile, however, there is no space travel—nor is there even a prospect of it to worlds outside our solar system. So it makes little difference if there are 1,000,000,000,000,000 inhabited or inhabitable worlds in the sky. We've got our own.

A Useful Reminder

It was in February 1951 that the worst scandal in the history of American college sports came to light. Players on a number of college teams were reported to have taken bribes from professional gamblers for "fixing" basketball games held in Madison Square Garden.

New York University, the College of the City of New York, Manhattan College, Long Island University and the University of Kentucky were involved in the sordid story.

Since then many things have happened. Athletes have been prosecuted and convicted under New York law, others have been expelled from school, at least one coach has resigned and one college has announced that it will drop intercollegiate athletics, Kentucky has been investigated and suspended from the Southeastern Conference, and the American Council on Education has undertaken a reform program. But the repercussions are continuing.

The latest repercussion is in the form of the report of the New York City Board of Higher Education's special committee on intercollegiate basketball. Inquiring into the situation at the College of the City of New York, the committee came up with charges that have resulted in the suspension of Coach Nat Holman, Assistant Coach Harry (Bob) Sand and Prof. Frank S. Lloyd—the three men who made up the CCNY faculty committee in charge of basketball.

The charges are conduct unbecoming a teacher, neglect of duty and disobedience to an official directive. These charges have yet to be proved. But the picture painted by the investigators, though shocking and in many respects revealing, looks more or less familiar.

It is easy to believe that players were influenced by the "atmosphere of cynicism" prevailing at the college if grades of high school athletes were changed so they could be admitted, if an official in the registrar's office was paid to "ease" poor students past scholastic barriers, if faculty members knew that athletes played summer basketball for pay and winked at it.

The report is encouraging because it reflects a continuing determination to attack a cancerous evil in colleges.

Thanksgiving Day

At this Thanksgiving time there is a tendency to compare the lot of the Pilgrims, who instituted the day, with those of the present generation, much to the advantage of the latter.

The Pilgrims had few material blessings for which to give thanks. Simple but sufficient fare, at least temporary safety from Indian attack, and shelter against the approaching winter.

While these were included in their prayers of thanksgiving, they also were grateful and returned thanks to God for the freedom they had gained in a new land, which later was to be incorporated in the Declaration of Independence—life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

In these times of national and international stress there should be no faltering in the observance of the day, no lessening in the nation's prayers of praise and thanksgiving. Americans still live in a free land, where oportunity is everybody's right, a nation not only sufficient unto itself but able, because it is free, to extend a helping hand around the world.

As for material blessings, no people under the sun has had so much so easily attained.

All this Americans owe to the infinite goodness of the Divine Creator, who has set Ameirca apart as leader in a world which needs leadership as never before. On the occasion of this annual observance of Thanksgiving Day there should be a renewal of faith in the Creator, who has led this nation through the turmoils of war, through the vicissitudes of changing times, to a position in the world never before attained by any people, because freedom has been America's heritage and still endures.

Stuttering Children

Speech disturbances are complex problems. In addition, help is difficult to obtain when it is needed most because there are so few therapists. Yet the results are gratifying because, in remedying the speech defect, many afflicted children become entirely different personalities. This is particularly true of the stutterer who begins as a shy, tense child but ends as a robust, noisy, friendly youngster.

In bygone days, stuttering was thought to center about the tongue, which meant that many mechanical technics, gadgets, medications and operations were tried. The psychological approach also had its day, varying from suggestion and distraction to hypnosis. We now know that the speech disorder is a behavior problem usually stemming from tension and stress. The majority of victims are easily frustrated, apprehensive, sensitive, and inhibited; They are uncomfortable away from the protection of their parents.

Stuttering occurs early in life as a rule and as the child grows older he is likely to forget the precipitating cause. In some instances it is traceable to correction of the hesitancy in speech that occurs normally in young children. The parents correct, scold, or even ridicule their offspring until the boy or girl is afraid to attempt speech. Other stutterers come from families where tension abounds or the mother is too rigid, domineering, or overanxious. She may be a perfectionist who is hypercritical whenever John or Mary does not follow suit.

At any rate, stuttering perpetuates itself because of fear of stuttering. This phase is not appreciated unless you can put yourself in the place of the victim. The youngster acquires a severe anxiety reaction every time he uses the phone, asks or answers a question, gives directions, or speaks in an important situation. The experience is frustrating, more so when every vocal expression is met with smile, laugh, or sign of pity.

The sooner the youngster can be treated, the better. Some outgrow the defect but there is no way of telling ahead of time and the penalty for neglect is great. Speech therapists will go into possible sources of tension, unrest, insecurity, and other emotional abnormalities. These youngsters often have other disagreeable traits such as nail biting thumbsucking, nightmares, or bedwetting. No wonder complete cure is so gratifying because it goes beyond the actual speech defect.

Dyslalia is the name given to one of the most common of all speech disorders. In this defect the youngster has difficulty pronouncing words and the trouble varies from a mild distortion of a single sound such as the letter "s" to speech so indistinct it cannot be understood. Dyslalia includes lisping and baby talk. In a 3 year old such faulty articulation is disregarded; the same condition in a 5½ year old is regarded as borderline. But after the age of 6½ these disturbances indicate a clear-cut defect. Children over 8 who are so afflicted need assistance because a spontaneous change for the better is not likely.

K. J. writes: Do you know about the Koch serum treatment of cancer?

REPLY

The value of this treatment has been questioned repeatedly over the last 30 years, and its users have been brought into court on many occasions. According to the bureau of investigation of the American Medical association: "Normal advertising channels are barred to Koch, by reason of the injunction granted against him to the federal trade commission, the government agency having jurisdiction over advertising in the drug field. No longer does he dare claim therapeutic merit for his product on the trade package or in the accompanying literature. No doubt he would find himself once more in difficulty with the federal food and drug officials."

IRREGULAR

Mrs. J .writes: Can anything be done about irregular periods?

REPLY

Yes, but since there are a variety of causes for this abnormality, examination by your physician is suggested. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on menstrual irregularities.

SCALP SCABIES?

R. W. writes: Can scabies attack the scalp?

REPLY

Not as a rule. Scabies prefers the webs of the fingers, the armpits, and the abdominal areas.

TAKING VITAMINS

L. C. writes: Is it better to take vitamins before, during, or after meals?

REPLY

Since vitamins do not "set well" on an empty stomach, it is better to take them during or after meals.

CARBUNCLES

R. F. writes: Can carbuncles attack any other part of the body besides the skin?

REPLY

Carbuncles are skin infections similar to boils but more extensive. On the other hand, they are abscesses and abscesses can occur anywhere on the body.

Democrats Once Objected To Thanksgiving Holiday; Truman Considers Dropping Price Controls; GOP To Replace 1,500 Washington Officials

WASHINGTON—Most people who sit down to enjoy their turkey dinners today don't know that Thanksgiving got all snarled up with politics and states' rights for about three-quarters of a century. In fact, the issue of states' rights kept Thanksgiving from becoming a national holiday for about half of our history.

It was George Washington in 1789 who first asked Congress to set aside a Thanksgiving holiday to be observed not merely by New England, as in the past, but by the entire nation. Congress, however, balked.

The Democrats accused Washington of exercising undue federal power and trampling on states' rights, as the Republicans accuse Truman today. So, thanks to Democratic opposition, Thanksgiving did not become a national holiday until three-quarters of a century later, and then it was the merchants along the sleepy Potomac who finally put it across.

Washington grocers and wine merchants woke up to the fact that they could sell fancy food on Thanksgiving Day, began advertising wine received from New York, turkeys received from Virginia, until businessmen's pressure on Congress became such that even the states' righters succumbed.

Thanksgiving In White House

Thanksgiving in the White House has changed in one important respect, but the White House menu has varied only slightly. Most Presidents in the past spent Thanksgiving working on their message to the lame-duck Congress. It even got to be a wisecrack around Washington that the President's turkey was spoiled by indigestible lame duck. However, the Norris Amendment changed all this. Today Congress meets not immediately after Thanksgiving, but after New Year's Day, and the President doesn't have to worry about facing a disagreeable Congress immediately after his turkey dinner.

Scrutiny of previous White House menus shows that earlier Presidents went a little heavier on meat, but otherwise their Thanksgiving diet was about the same.

President Lincoln, for instance, was given the following Thanksgiving banquet by the Sturgis Rifles in 1861, first year of the Civil War: chicken soup, roast beef, turkey, cranberry sauce, chicken, mallard duck, tame duck, boiled ham, boiled corn beef, fried oysters, boiled potatoes, sweet potatoes, boiled turnips, cabbage, celery, mince pie, and hamburg cheese.

In 1876, President Grant, known as a heavy eater, sat down to the following: consomme imperiale, bisque de grevisse, sherry, woodcock patties, salmon, white wine, turkey, filet of beef, crawfish pudding, breast of pheasant, goose livers, roman punch, champagne, canvasback duck, warm sweet dish, red wine.

Recent Presidents, however, are more modest, or perhaps more careful of their figures. Their menus have featured only turkey, usually sent them from those parts of the nation which pride themselves on the bird—Tazewell County, Va., being the most favored.

Exit Controls??

It isn't being advertised, but the question of dropping all price and wage controls is under careful study at the White House.

Charley Murphy, painstaking White House counsel, has been ordered to assemble all the facts and submit a report to Truman in the near future.

Significantly, the pressure to drop price and wage controls has come from labor, not industry. Labor leaders want to get rid of the Wage Stabilization Board, figure that they can't do so unless price controls are dumped at the same time. Furthermore, they figure that price controls are pretty well shot anyway and that prices are on their way down.

John Steelman, Truman's labor adviser, backs up this view and has been telling industry leaders that controls will be off in a short time.

Meanwhile, the man who has faithfully tried to administer controls, Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, tells his associates that he's in favor of continuing controls until all economic pressure is off.

But the final decision, he said, is up to the President.

Truman's Secretary

Harry McDonald, head of the giant Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and one of the Republicans Truman has appointed to a top job, gave a cocktail party the other evening in the Presidential suite of the Hotel Statler.

The party was in honor of an important member of the White House staff, No. 1 Secretary Matt Connelly. Connelly is the czar who decides who shall see the President, and he is also supposed to make his appointment schedule move on time. The Presidential secretary having reached his 45th birthday last week, McDonald gave him a party to which was invited the politicaly elite of Washington, one of them being the President of the United States.

Mr. Truman arrived at 5:30, asked for the guest of honor. The guest of honor wasn't there. Truman waited, mingled with other guests, waited some more. Finally, after a full hour, Connelly didn't show. The President departing, told McDonald:

"Tell your guest of honor that tomorrow he won't be in the doghouse. He'll be in the backhouse."

Exits And Entrances

The Eisenhower high command has quietly sent several experts to Washington to examine the biggest government agencies. They want to spot the key jobs in each agency and how many new executives they should appoint to control policy. The Republicans say privately they'll have to replace about 1,500 top officials to get a firm grip on government machinery. . . . Although Republicans will soon control the White House and Congress, the Democrats will keep a firm grip on the federal courts where they outnumber Republicans 15 to 1. It will take the Republicans about 12 years before they can can appoint enough judges to catch up with the Democrats. . . . When Senator Byrd of Virginia was sounded out about becoming secretary of the Treasury—following a recommendation by Taft to Ike—he replied that he owed it to his constituents to remain in the Senate.

Thanksgiving 1952

A nation is only as strong as its roots are deep in tradition. Ours is an old tradition, continuous in the mind of man as long as we know. It is the tradition of the goodness of man as a reflection of God's goodness.

Those who founded this country, whether in New England or Virginia or Pennsylvania or in any of what came to be known as the 13 colonies were profoundly influenced in their thought and action by the Bible, both the Old and the New Testaments.

And when they had gathered a harvest, they joined in thanksgiving to God whose guidance they sought.

For 300 years and more these people from Europe have been coming to our shores, ever hopeful that they would find here a life in freedom. Some had known freedom; some had been deprived of human dignity by outrageous tyranny. For whatever reason they left their ancestral homes it was always liberty that was uppermost in their lives—freedom to live according to the patterns of their traditions.

And here they found freedom, for it has never abated in our land. Wars, a civil war, economic depressions, wealth, poverty—men pass from one estate to another, but in the course of the vast fluctuations between good times and bad, freedom has never been worn away and the tyrant has never risen to grind the souls of men.

It is because America has never been forsaken by God. America must never forsake God.

On this Thanksgiving Day, this thought must come to us, for we have so much to be thankful for, we who live in America.

In the horrid era in which we live during which war has become almost a permanent institution, other nations, great empires, have been reduced to a secondary status and the standards of living of their people have been violently reduced.

It was said at the beginning of the 20th Century that the sun never set on the British Empire. That is still somewhat true, but the British Empire itself has disappeared; the commonwealth is not the same. Nor is the French Empire what it used to be. It is now actually struggling for its life in the paddy-fields of Indo-China and the deserts of North Africa.

We Americans can be thankful that we possess no empire; we have oppressed no people; we have taken no territory; no one is in rebellion against us. Our strength is in our history. We have been helpful to all peoples who needed our help. Since we have become a nation in our own right, we have asked the help of no one. We have sent our sons to defend European and Asiatic countries; we have invited the help of no people to defend our shores.

For this we are thankful to God. For those who are aided end in resenting the aid; those who make their own way can afford to bestow their friendship freely. Perhaps that is why we remain so generous, even to former enemies and to friends who flout our friendship.

We are now entering upon a new regime. We have passed through a maze of political, economic and social experiments, most of which our people could not understand. Many of the changes have left a permanent mark upon our institutions. There have been vast alterations in human relations; from a homogeneous people capable of absorbing and assimilating all who came to our country, we have been fragmented into blocs, groups, cliques, majorities and minorities, suffering diversions according to racial, religious and occupational differences.

But we have suffered this evil. We have proved stronger than the wicked men who have served extraneous interests. We have survived all the intrigues and trickiness of the Communists, of Stalin's spies, of our own corrupted sons and daughters, of the misguided dupes who followed them.

And now we are entering upon a new regime, an American regime, to be guided by a President who will not mistake his duty to the traditions of his people.

For that, our God, we are thankful in this year, 1952. On this Thanksgiving Day, may in every home be sung or recited these words:

"Our Father's God, to Thee
Author of liberty,
To Thee I sing;
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King!"

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

Dulles

NEW YORK

A solemn-looking man with a long, early-American face, a penchant for green-tinted suits, and a habit, when deep in thought, of making small clicking noises with his tongue, is now the great enigma of every capital city, from Moscow to Washington. As secretary of State, John Foster Dulles will be one of the world's key figures. What manner of man is he? In his term at the State Department, what posture will the United States present to the world?

As recently in this space, Dulles looks to a great many Europeans like a "fire-breathing warmonger who would obliterate Europe with hydrogen bombs in order to free Poland and so gain votes in Hamtramck." It is hard to imagine a man less fitted in appearance and manner for this role.

To an American, Dulles looks and talks much like the traditional American country lawyer—shrewd (and perhaps downright wily where need be,) cautious (he often hesitates a full minute before answering a question), highly intelligent and extremely practical.

Yet the warmonger image does exist in Europe, and its existence cannot be lightly disregarded. This image derives largely from the so-called "liberation policy." Some of Dulles' campaign-time political speeches on this subject no doubt sounded very fire-breathing to Europeans. Actually, away from the hustings, there seems to be little fire and much sound sense in Dulles' views on American policy toward the Soviet satellite empire.

Internal Strains In Russia

These views can be summarized, according to reliable report, about as follows: first, if the Kremlin successfully absorbs and consolidates its great new empire, it will then be free without restraint to pursue its goal of world domination. This might well lead either to hot war, or to defeat for the West in the cold war.

Second, Dulles is reported to believe, that the Soviet satellite empire, so monolithic in outward seeming, is in fact subject to very heavy internal strains. These would be greatly eased by an East-West agreement, recognizing on permanent basis the Soviet overlordship of the satellite states. The West should flatly refuse any such deal. There must be no new Munichs. No new Nazi-Soviet pacts, abandoning the subject nations forever to Moscow's rule.

At the same time, the internal strains within the Soviet empire can be aggravated by other, largely secret methods. This specifically does not mean armed rebellion. As Dulles has written: "Violent revolt would be futile. Indeed, it would be worse than futile, for it would precipitate massacre."

What Dulles apparently has in mind is the simple fact that change is history's one constant. At some point in the future, a time of great change will come to the Soviet empire, perhaps when Stalin dies, perhaps at another time. When this time comes, a structure must exist within the satellite empire capable of being used to exploit the moment of opportunity. The West must also be prepared to exploit this moment boldly — perhaps by offering immediately to a newly independent state the same sort of guarantee against Soviet aggression that Tito has been offered, slowly and by implication.

Long-Range Planning

These views may be disputed. But surely they are not the views of a "reactionary warmonger." Other views reportedly held by Dulles, about American policy on this side of the Soviet empire, may also surprise the more violent of his European critics.

He believes, for example, that an essentially revolutionary situation exists in certain areas of the world, where a tiny minority of exploiters rule a seething mass of the exploited. Such revolutionary situations are the Kremlin's central asset. There must be profound changes where society is organized in this way. But these changes cannot be made over night, and therefore long range plans for promoting change are called for.

This is one reason why Dulles strongly believes that a sort of national policy planning staff should be organized, and given direct representation on the policy-making National Security Council. The Kremlin, he points out, plans in decades. The United States should at least plan in terms of four years, instead of reacting spasmodically to crisis as they arise.

Dulles also believes that his own successful negotiation of the Japanese peace treaty can form a model for dealing with specific situations, where immediate action, rather than long range planning, is called for. One man of great competence should be given full responsibility for a single mission in a single area —bringing relative order and stability to Southeast Asia, for example. He should be given the widest latitude and enthusiastic support in any course he chooses to accomplish his mission.

All this, of course, leaves many questions unanswered about John Foster Dulles and the future of American foreign policy. But one thing is certain. The next President and the next secretary of State together will have a golden opportunity to restore faltering American world leadership. It will take toughmindedness, and indifference to inevitable criticism, a stern refusal to make petty political compromises, to offer the kind of American leadership the world situation so insistently demands. But at least it can be said that the solemn-faced lawyer who is to be our next secretary of State appears to be a man of very strong will, very wide experience, and very great intelligence.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, (INS)—The passing show—

Two recent statements by men of renown in U. S. medical circles throw fresh and encouraging light on our national health charts.

"Since 1900, truly remarkable progress has been made both in medicine and public health," Gen. James Stevens Simmons, dean of the Harvard School of Public Health, told a congressional committee examining foundations which are exempt from federal taxation.

"Today our national death rate is less than 10 per thousand and the expected life span is more than 67 years," he continued. "Many diseases are still too prevalent, but the mortality from childhood infections has been reduced about 97 per cent. Likewise, the incidence and death rates for infections of the intestinal, respiratory and insect-borne groups have been greatly decreased."

Gen. Simmons made his remarks in the course of supporting foundations and lauding their work in the field of public health. He especially stressed the amazing contributions of the Rockefeller Foundation, which has given more than $100,000,000 to the nation's medical research programs and to other facets of U. S. public health.

(He also urged that President-elect Eisenhower appoint a secretary of health with full Cabinet rank and stressed the importance of physicians with public health experience being selected as presidential advisers on national health matters.)

Dr. Louis H. Bauer, president of the American Medical Association, in calling the first Western Hemisphere conference of the World Medical Association (Richmond, Va., next April), had these encouraging things to report:

A baby born in the U. S. today has an even chance of living to the age of 68, or twice the life expectancy of one born when George Washington became president;

The average life span of industrial workers has doubled since Chester Arthur was president. It was 34 years in the decade of 1879-89 and is now 68, the same as for the general population;

Wage-earners, 40 years ago, lived six fewer years than the rich;

Life expectancy in the U. S. will reach and pass 70 years before 1960, and life will be freer of disability and pain for more people than ever before in the past.

"Surely," Dr. Bauer says, "this is reason for giving thanks and for exchanging medical knowledge among the doctors of the world."

A special grant by the A. H. Robins Co., ethical pharmaceutical house of Richmond, will pay for the important convention of the hemisphere's medical men.

In Roman times the life expectancy was 22 years! It rose to 33 during the Middle Ages and hardly budged for several centuries until the 20th century began. More has been accomplished in medicine in the past 50 years than had been achieved in the previous history of the world.

Gains made against tuberculosis, pneumonia, infant diarrhea, bronchitis, meningitis, diphtheria, typhoid fever, the hazards of childbearing and premature birth, heart troubles, and to some degree cancer have prolonged life for countless millions.

In his testimony before Congress, Gen. Simmons said it would be next to impossible, in the time allotted, to do other than skim the contribution of a foundation such as the one set up by John D. Rockefeller the elder. He concentrated on yellow fever, malaria and hookworm disease—research of great benefit to the world. In praising the foundation system, and the need of it as a valued ally of federal spending in medicine, the general said:

"The president of one great foundation is said to have remarked, factitiously, that 'the function of a foundation is to make mistakes.' I believe this is true, because any foundation which is unduly worried about the possible failure of its programs of investigation is in no position to make a great and lasting contribution to the advancement of knowledge."

Pumpkin 'N Spices Make Ideal Fall Cookies

Pumpkin always finds its place on fall menus, and this time it's from the cooky jar. Teamed with fragrant and flavorful spices and raisins or nuts, these Pumpkin Harvest Cookies make mighty good eating.

They are made with whole bran, too, for a special crunchiness; the cereal, spices, and pumpkin together result in a cooky that is as warm in color as the oak tree in fall.

Honey Is Plentiful

Marketing specialists tell us there is an abundance of honey, and here's a good way to use some of that versatile sweetener. Try these Honey Drop Cookies. The dates and the crispness of the oven-popped rice cereal add interesting texture to this otherwise soft, cake-like cooky.

PUMPKIN HARVEST COOKIES

½ cup fat
1½ cups sugar
1 egg
1⅓ cups mashed cooked pumpkin
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup raisins or chopped nuts
1 cup whole bran

Cream fat; add sugar gradually, beating well to blend. Add egg and pumpkin and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, and spices. Add to first mixture, beating well. Fold in raisins or nuts, and whole bran. Drop batter by tablespoonfuls 2 inches apart on greased cooky sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: About 4 dozen cookies.

HONEY DROP COOKIES

⅓ cup fat
½ cup honey
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup sour cream
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup chopped dates
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal

Blend fat, honey, sugar, and vanilla until fluffy. Add eggs and sour cream and mix well. Sift together the dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Stir in the nuts, dates, and oven-popped rice cereal. Drop by level tablespoonfuls onto lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 15 minutes. Yield: 4½ dozen cookies.

Lemon Pecan Sauce

1 cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup water
1 large lemon, slivered or thinly sliced
⅓ cup pecans

Cook sugar, lemon juice, and water over low heat until thickened, about 8 to 10 minutes. Add slivered lemon and simmer until fruit is transparent. Stir in pecans. Serve hot or cold. Makes about 1⅓ cups sauce.

CD To Purchase Frostburg Sirens

William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for Allegany County, informed the county commissioners Tuesday air raid sirens will be purchased for installation at Frostburg.

Funds were left over after the installation costs were provided for the attack warning system in Cumberland and state CD officials approved the spending of the money for the Frostburg program. Members of the board gave their approval to this procedure.

Meanwhile, J. Walker Chapman, custodian of Civil Defense materials for the county, informed the county commissioners he would not be able to assume the extra duties as procurement officer for the CD program as suggested by Barger. Chapman said his regular duties as supervisor of the County Roads Department would not allow him time to devote to the extra work needed in the CD post.

The board also received a request from the Volunteer Auxiliary Police of Cumberland for funds to help pay for a $1,800 jeep which is used to haul rescue equipment to scenes of mishaps. The commissioners said they do not know if they have authority to give funds for this purpose. The rescue work was handled formerly by the late Frederick C. "Buck" Dreyer.

Alfred G. Etter To Speak Here Dec. 8

The second of a series of illustrated lecture tour programs arranged by the Allegany County Bird Club will bring Alfred G. Etter to Allegany High School auditorium on Monday, December 8, in "A Missouri Story." Motion pictures in color will depict the bird and wild life of that area along with the fascinating story promised by Mr. Etter.

The three 1953 programs are: January 14, Fran William Hall in "The Four Corners"; February 18, Robert C. Hermes in "Bonaventure Diary"; and on March 27, Howard Cleaves in "Midnite Movies in Animal Land."

The American opossum is a representative of the kangaroo family.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK — It will be only a matter of weeks now before the boys over on the sports pages begin compiling their annual lists of bests and we will be advised on just which team made the biggest comeback, which wrestler was the most popular on TV and which roller derbyite was the gamest. Then the editorial writers will scratch their double domes and come up with the lists of the 10 biggest news stories of the year and a press agent will throw in the 10 men with the gaudiest underwear or the five purest-bred dogs in the world.

These lists are very interesting and I read each of them avidly — but somehow there never seems to be much publicity given to my favorite list. This could be because it is in the possession of the New York City Police Department and, although it is in the public domain, the gentlemen of law and order do not go out of their way to see that it reaches the public.

My list is the 10 biggest jewel burglaries staged in New York's hotels and I honestly do not see why more editors do not use this list regularly each year because it contains all the ingredients for news popularity—sex, money, society, suspense and a frustrated police force. I do not have this year's incomplete list at my fingertips but I do have the 1951 figures before me and they are pretty dazzling.

Last year, estimating conservatively, hotels in the big town were rifled of a half-million dollars in jewels. Almost four-fifths of this amount was accounted for by 16 major robberies, with the other hundred grand or so being made up of the loot of an endless string of little-hotel jobs. Since we had a nice little string of summer hotel thefts this year, I imagine the 1952 figures will be almost as impressive.

The biggest job pulled in 1951 was the swiping of $60,000 in gems from Mrs. Arthur F. Adams, who was quartered at the St. Regis, but Mrs. Eugene K. Denton, who had $40,000 worth of gew-gaws pilfered from her Beekman Hotel suite, was not far behind. The burglars were discriminatory; They operated out of almost all the big-name inns. The Park Lane, the Plaza, the Savoy-Plaza, the Sherry-Netherland, the Ritz Towers—all of these were visited by the feathery-footed gentlemen with the taking ways.

The name known best to the world outside New York, among the victims, is that of Linda Darnell. Miss Linda, one of Hollywood's nicest and most down-to-earth souls, as well as one of its most breathtaking to behold, dropped 30 grand at the Warwick on January 2 of this year, the sum being so round and the victim so impressive that we just had to add it to last year's list to round it out.

Sally DeMarco, who dances with the ageless Tony, was taken for $13,000 at the Pierre last fall and Mrs. William DuPont, who was tennis champion Margaret Osborne (no net game; a little slow of foot but hit fairly well off the backhand), had $20,595 in gems lifted from her at the Savoy-Plaza. The James Masons, who act and raise cats, lost $30,000 at the St. Regis a year ago election day.

There is nothing haphazard about these thefts, I am informed reliably. Like a card-sharp who enrolls on a transatlantic voyage legitimately, the gem burglars register at the plush hotels, stick around for a couple of days while they get the lay of the land, pull the job—and then continue living at the hotel for a cuple of days, so as to avoid suspicion.

They have any number of ways of staging the actual burglaries. They can enter the victim's room with a passkey or celluloid strip or they can hunt for unlocked doors in the wee hours and enter to pull the job while the victims sleep.

After they take the loot out of town—and they almost always do—you kiss it good bye; the jewels are taken out of their settings and the settings melted down. According to the forces of law, the gents who stage these jobs have a kind of unofficial guild and they exchange information and tips with each other with cordial geniality.

The tip for you, meanwhile, is this: when you come here and stay in a big hotel, if you've got lots of ice on you (as we say in the trade), check it in the house safe. It's a pain in the neck but it'll save you a pain in the purse.

DON'T USE HIS TACTICS

IT IS THE height of foolhardiness to attempt psychic bidding against an opponent who is notoriously practiced in it, simply because he hamstrung you with such tactics on the preceding deal. He may be more or less familiar with such weapons, but if you are not, and your partner isn't, you are taking a terrific chance by trying them, and may pay heavily for your venture into the unknown.

South was smarting under what East had done to him in the preceding rubber, when he psyched South out of the rubber game on one deal with a bluff bid that scared him from bidding the correct suit, then followed it by making the deciding game on the following hand.

This time South was determined nothing like that would happen to him again. When he heard East's 2-Spades opening, he felt there was a good chance East was short in spades and that the best way to show he had some himself was to bid No Trumps. After East doubled that, he redoubled as a desperation measure intended to do one of two things—either cause North to take out in his best suit or frighten his opponents into bidding something. But all passed his redouble.

West trusted his partner enough this time to lead the suit he had bid, the spade 8. East put on the Q, and South allowed that to win, expecting another spade lead which would assure him two tricks in that suit. East switched to hearts, however, and later to clubs, enabling the defense to take all thirteen tricks for a gargantuan score.

Of course, if North had taken out into his diamonds, it would have been at the three level. Since he probably would have lost three tricks in hearts, two in diamonds, two in clubs and one in spades, that bid would have saved a lot of points, as it would have been down only four doubled for fewer points than the opponents could have scored by bidding a small slam.

If West makes what he considers a "smart" bid of 1-No Trump, and East bids 4-No Trumps, what would you do in the South?

DISASTER ON DISASTER

THERE is no profit in piling one disaster on top of another. And that is just what you are likely to do when, lacking experience with fancy or psychic bids, you try them to gain revenge for a slick opponent's successful use of them against you. Trying to "give him a dose of his own medicine" is so unwise, for the untutored in such methods, that warnings against them, and examples of the results, can hardly be given too often to those who meet such habitual tricksters.

West made that opening No Trump bid because he was infuriated at the way South had won the last rubber by means of a psychic bid of a suit which prevented him from making the killing opening lead. So now he was striking back, he thought, though he had no definite idea of the way in which his bid could help his side.

East of course knew nothing about his partner's having bid a psychic, so thought a normal No Trump hand was opposite him. Therefore he scented a sure small slam and possible grand slam. That's why he bid what he intended as a Blackwood 4-No Trumps. South too was obviously in the dark about anything peculiar, and decided to strain his resources to upset the response to the Blackwood. To make it doubly tough, he bid the clubs he didn't have instead of diamonds.

When that was passed around to East, the latter didn't merely wish to punish the 5-Clubs with a double, which would be for business and possibly left in. He was anxious to have his side play the hand, and for some reason felt that a bid of the lowest available suit would be best calculated to bring information from his partner.

Can you imagine East's feelings when everybody passed that bid? South of course was tickled to death as he thrashed that with his long suit, East taking only two tricks each in spades and diamonds and one each in the other suits. Notice that, in No Trumps, East and West could have made a grand slam by double-dummy play, dropping the club K and winning the finesses in the other suits.

Contributions Exceed Expenses During Election

Both political parties came out in the "black" in the financing of the November 4 election, according to treasurers' reports filed in the office of Clerk of Circuit Court Joseph E. Boden.

Many veteran campaigners remarked that this was the first time in many elections that the parties had contributions exceeding expenses.

The victorious Allegany County Republican State Central Committee had the largest balance—$3,106.03.

The Republicans received $14,242.67 in total contributions and had expenditures totaling $11,118.64.

The defeated Democratic party spent in Allegany County a total of $5,213.98 and took in $5,681.39, leaving a balance of $467.41.

James A. Park, treasurer of the GOP State Central Committee, showed $2,484 was spent on election day for 207 cars with drivers at $12 a piece and $1,974 for 282 workers and checkers at $7 each. Other expenses, such as advertising, posters, office expense, amounted to $6,660.64.

The chief contributors to the GOP election fund were:

William E. Jenkins and sons, $1,500; William A. Gunter, Edmund S. Burke, Cumberland Women's Republican Club, all $500 each; C. Liller and W. VanMeter, total of $350; Earl Chaney, A. Charles Stewart and George L. Spoerl, $250 each; Dr. L. E. Daugherty, $200; sheriff's office employes, $168 total; George K. Steiner, Cara Little Ebert, George A. Diehl, all $150 each.

Contributors of $100 each were:

George M. Young, Westernport Women's Republican Club, W. Donald Smith, John Schwarzenbach, Herman Rainalter, W. Wallace McKaig, Elizabeth Lowndes, D. R. Kitzmiller, Dr. W. R. Hodges, George Henderson, L. E. Harris, Roy W. Eves, W. A. Douglas, George E. Davis, J. A. Cupler II, C. A. Brotemarkle, D. R. Bowie, F. Shipley, J. E. Smith.

The report of Thomas B. Finan, treasurer of the County Democratic State Central Committee, shows $1,620 was spent for 130 cars on election day.

The total expended for workers and checkers November 4, by the Demos amounted to $1,483.

Major contributors were Maryland State Democratic Headquarters and William P. Webb, treasurer of George P. Mahoney, $1,000 each; William C. Walsh, $500, Thomas F. Conlon Jr., $200, ad Stella B. Werner, $150.

Contributors of $100 each were United Democratic Women's Club, S. Russell Minter, David Kauffman, Thomas B. Finan, Edgar D. Vandegrift, William L. Wilson and Edward J. Ryan.

There were 593 contributors of one or more dollars to the Republican campaign fund, while there were only 150 donors to the Democratic fund.

Air Reservists Interviews Set

All Cumberland area Air Force Reservists will be personally interviewed early next year as part of a nationwide Air Force plan to bring its reserve records up-to-date, it was announced at Mitchell Air Force Base, N. Y., yesterday.

First Air Force headquarters said that Maryland reservists would be questioned concerning their dependents, physicial condition, present job, educational achievements and skills acquired since World War II, in a move designed to provide the Air Force with late information on its 300,000 reservists. There are approximately 500 reservists in the Cumberland area.

All known Fulton and Bedford County reservists have received notification of their appointments for interview in Altoona. Reservists who have not received an appointment date were urged to contact interview headquarters at 1108 12th Ave., Altoona, for appointments.

First Air Force headquarters said the location of the Cumberland area inventory site would be announced at a later date and that the interviews would be set for after the Christmas holidays.

Site Is Chosen At Hagerstown For New Hospital

Structure Planned Near County Home

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26 (AP)—Western Maryland's chronic disease hospital will be built in Hagerstown, right where Hagerstown wanted it.

The Board of Public Works voted unanimously today to erect the 300-bed hospital by the old county home just north of the city.

Work will begin as quickly as possible, Gov. McKeldin assured a Hagerstown delegation which violently opposed a suggestion to locate the institution beside the Washington County General Hospital.

But it developed during a two-hour hearing that Western Maryland probably won't get as fancy a hospital as did the Eeastern Shore at Salisbury.

Authorized $3 Million

The Legislature has authorized three million dollars for the Western Maryland institution. It will provide treatment for elderly people with lingering illnesses but without much money.

Some two millions were spent on the Eastern Shore hospital, one of three in the state's chronic-disease care program. The third is in Baltimore, at old Sydenham Hospital which once was devoted to treatment of patients with communicable diseases.

The Shore's hospital, which opened in mid-1951, is situated on a little isalnd in a pretty pond at Salisbury.

"We did too well there," commented Dr. Robert H. Riley, state health director. "We shouldn't have had such an expensive building."

The State Health Board planned the Eastern Shore institution "with the best advice available," Riley said. But experience indicates a different type would be preferable —one with less costly space for "custodial care."' This would still allow for proper treatment of patients who aren't very sick or who are almost ready to go home.

Ends Controversy

The works board decision on a Hagerstown site ended a long controversy that started when the health board reversed itself last fall and recommended building next to the county hospital.

This carried out a proposal of the medical care committee. The idea was that the $100,000 additional expense involved would be offset by exchanging equipment and medical personnel.

The Washington County Commissioners already had turned over 55 acres on their county-home property for state use without cost.

One Hagerstown spokesman said today the health board's turnabout left the Western Maryland city "incredulous and amazed." He was Francis H. Urner, an attorney who spoke for Sen. D. Kenneth McLaughlin, now recovering from a heart attack.

Riley and other health board representatives said a place next to the general hospital would be desirable, help both institutions and fit in with the latest medical thinking.

Board In Agreement

Hagerstown spokesmen described that site as swampland, surrounded by noisy industries and good for little more than "growing celery."

The three board members sided with them, State Treasurer Hooper S. Miles and Comptroller J. Millard Tawes voting with McKeldin. Building chronic-disease hospitals next to general hospitals would be fine, they said, but not next to the one in Hagerstown.

Industry Drops As Factor In Polluting Potomac River

Industry has dropped to third place as a contributing factor to pollution in the Potomac River, it was disclosed at a one-day waste symposium sponsored by the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin at Winchester, recently.

E. R. Cotton, commission director, said during the last five years industrial pollution has decreased by 38 per cent over the basin.

The two contributing factors ahead of industry are now eroded soil and municipal sanitary sewerage.

Processes Changed

Cotton said this has been brought about by the efforts of industry generally to clean up its wastes.

Specifically, Cotton said, industry has changed processes, resulting in a lesser pollution load: has improved waste treatment facilities, has instigated better "housekeeping" methods.

He explained better housekeeping as greater efforts on the part of plant managers and personnel in preventing pollution from flowing from plants into streams.

Cotton listed three trouble spots in the Potomac Basin—the Washington metropolitan area where the problem is one of municipal wastes; the Cumberland area where the problem is one both of industrial and municipal wastes, and the Shenandoah Valley area where the problem is one largely of planning the placement of industry.

In discussing the Cumberland area, where acid mine pollution creates a problem that has been beyond engineers, Cotton said a research program sponsored by the commission at Johns Hopkins University looks as though it may provide the answer scientists have been looking for.

Tests Scheduled

If this program is successful, he added, it is likely that engineers will be able to control the pollution from coal mines.

The program will not be disclosed until the completion of conclusive tests, he pointed out.

Acid mine waters, containing quantities of sulphuric acid, have accounted for great losses in aquatic life and vegetation in the mountain streams in the upper Potomac area. Mine sealing has been the only means of combating this drainage.

Many of the papers presented at the symposium were of a highly technical nature.

Dr. Charles E. Renn, Johns Hopkins professor of sanitary engineering, said that in its increasing development throughout the South, industry should aim to utilize the full recovery power of streams.

Roy Weston, sanitary engineer for the Atlantic Refining Company, said great savings often have been made by plants searching for ways to reduce their pollution load.

Julian G. Patrick, chief chemi for the West Virginia Pulp & Pape Company, and chairman of th commission's industrial committe presided.

Students Prepare For Area Turkey Day Football Games

Football fever was propelled to a high tempo at the four schools to be involved in Cumberland and Frostburg Thanksgiving day football games as pep rallies marked the close of classes yesterday.

Rallies were held by the Cumberland rivals, Fort Hill and Allegany high schools, and by the Frostburg contestants, LaSalle and Beall high schools.

At Fort Hill the program was built around the school's king and queen of football, James Rowley and Sara Clapp.

Rowley decreed Miss Clapp as football queen for the big game today and the cheerleaders led a yell in her honor and the band played "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here."

The court jesters, William Bird, James Kaiser and Hugh Malamphy, escorted Principal Victor D. Heisey to the center where he made a talk. The band played the school's loyalty song. Jack Dolan representing the band introduced the school fight song. Coach William P. Hahn spoke.

Then the "royal undertaker," John Raupach, brought in the tombstone of "Allegany" as the band played a funeral march. After several cheers, the program ended with the students singing the "Alma Mater."

At Allegany High, the highlight was the crowning of Beverly Wilson as Camper Queen by Coach Roy Lester.

As the students entered the gym there were presented sheets containing the school cheers. The Allegany Band directed by S. Lua Syckes, led singing of "Tis Allegany."

Decorated goal posts were held by two members of the band. On the gym floor were two "applause meters" to register the vivacity and loudness of the cheering. Inside them at the controls were two teachers, Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce and Miss Betsy Ross Rankin.

Jo Ann Walker introduced the queen. Her attendants for tomorrow's game were presented. They are Mary Waner, senior; Joan Bastian, junior; Nancy Duncan, sophomore, and Joan Wilt, freshman. Mascot for the cheerleaders tomorrow will be Beverly Price, who will be dressed as an Indian.

Brief talks were made by Coach Lester, Assistant Coach James Hosack and the team co-captains, Joseph Nave and Ralph Shaffer.

The applause meters were read after each cheer.

Both schools touched off their bonfires last night.

The Fort Hill bonfire was in Constitution Park under the direction of the Penn Avenue-Fort Hill Alumni Association with Lester Hudson as chairman.

Short talks were given by representatives of business clubs, the school, Coach Hahn, Assistant Coach William McProuty, and the football queen.

Robert R. Golden, Nelson W. Russler and the school band also took a part in the program.

At Allegany a section of the wooden bleachers on the athletic field was roped off for the football team, coaches, and band.

Talks were made by Co-Captains Nave and Shaffer; Coach Lester; Assistant Coach Hosack; Principal Raymond C. McCullough; Robert Barnard Jr., president of the Camper Club; Frederick C. Eiler of the Camper Club; former Allegany Coach, Robert E. Pence; and members of the team.

Talks were interspersed by cheers and band music. After this part of the program, the students went to the bonfire site on the old athletic field for the lighting. The students then marched to downtown Cumberland.

LaSalle High School students held a rally yesterday in the school auditorium with Brother Daniel Hilary, principal, and Brother Joseph, moderator of athletics, making short pep talks.

After cheers were led by William Comer, head cheerleader, the student body saw movies of La Salle's victory over Allegany High earlier in the season.

At Frostburg, a tackling dummy dubbed "LaSalle", held the position of honor in the Beall rally presided over by Principal Vincent Halbert.

The 50-member band presented several pep numbers and student body had yells led by the cheerleaders. Talks were made by members of the team and Coach Ray Hull.

Beall High also was a picture of activity yesterday. One group of students was busy hanging the covers on the fence surrounding the field and getting the area in shape for the large crowd anticipated today.

As a precaution against a repetition of last year's mud, workers have placed ashes in spots where bad spots were.

As several observers pointed, by the time the games start the students will either be all pepped up or worn out through their preparations.

St. Mary's Girls Enter Contest About Talent

Interview Many Local Citizens

The entire student body of St. Mary's High School has entered the talent contests being sponsored by Extension Magazine, a national Catholic monthly, which is the official organ of Catholic home missions.

Only high schools having a representative on the Extension Teen Board may enter the contests. The teen representative from St. Mary's is Janet Pisaneschi. There are three divisions in the contest: interviewing, cartooning and drawing.

An award of $100 is offered for the best "Career Corner" sketch contining a thumbnail biography of a Catholic representative of any field or profession, plus the subject's advice to students wishing to take up this career. The women selected must be interviewed personally.

For the finest cover idea the prize is $100 and for every accepter cartoon. $10 will be paid.

"There were diversities of experiences," said one of the Ursuline Sisters, "and who may fathom the depths of knowledge that the girls amass while contacting the personalities they interview? This was writing for a purpose. The subjects, human beings, were intriguing. The character sketches which accompanied the interviews afforded opportunity for originality."

One of the girls commented: "There was the social aspect. One is bound to be inspired by speaking with successful people. A bit of business was also learned. Poise and tact were essential and at times even diplomacy was necessary. By this intimate study of careers, the girls discovered that no activity is frivolous, but each is a serious business."

The names of the girls and the persons they interviewed follow:

Buttermilk Hits The Spot

Buttermilk, An ideal mixer for a new taste. An ideal food for reducing diets. Try these brand new recipes on family and friends, thrifty, delicious, simple, yet surprising. You can't go wrong with buttermilk.

For tasty dishes, for a tangy beverage.

Spiced Raisin Waffles

1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ½ teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ½ teaspoon nutmeg; 2 eggs, separated; 1½ cups buttermilk; ½ cup melted butter; 2-3 cup seedless raisins.

Sift together dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks until light, add to buttermilk and melted butter. Stir into dry mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter together with raisins. Makes 8 waffles.

Hash Casserole

Try this thrifty meat casserole. Combine a can of corned beef hash with grated raw carrot and chopped hard-cooked egg. Moisten it with catchup and heat in a moderate oven for 20 to 30 minutes.

Not solemnity but joy characterized the expression of gratitude on the first Thanksgiving Day!.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

My neighbors, Johnny, Edie and their little girl, Dee, celebrate Thanksgiving in the finest tradition. Though they are only three, there are never less than thirty with them on this day with all accorded the most regal treatment. Decked with fruits of the harvest, the atmosphere in their home is redolent with corn pudding and pumpkin pie. Turkeys are roasting on open grills before your eyes and all guests vie for a turn at the basting spoon and spit handle. Along with the good sights and aromas go good sounds —gleeful ones from children tossing a football outside and oldsters spinning reminiscences within.

Joyous Celebration

A great day is Thanksgiving in such households. And, their celebration is the purest kind of reincarnation of the spirit in which the Pilgrims expressed appreciation for the first magnificent harvest of the Plymouth colony. Contrary to what many think, there was nothing solemn, unbending or stiff-backed about that celebration. Going back to the original records, you'll find those settlers were in a festive mood, and rightfully, after both a good harvest and months of grinding labor carried on without Indian interference. They understood as too few of us do that an expression of joy is the greatest expression of gratitude.

For their celebration, the Pilgrims gathered everybody in — one hundred and twenty, ninety of them invited Indian guests — a very large company by today's standards. The governor ordered "waterfoule and a great store of wild turkeys" for the occasion. As gifts, the Indians offered four deer. The table was also laden with Indian puddings and "pompion" pie. Everything was prepared on outdoor fires. To sharpen the appetites, there were running, jumping and leaping contests. As history records, all this was managed by four women with a few "maidekins" to assist. It must have been a labor of love if ever there was one!

Founding of Tradition

The celebration lasted not just a day but an entire week. And it was such a success that right then in 1621, Thanksgiving became a day for joyous celebration and fellowship as well as devout gratitude for good fortune through the years.

May succeeding generations never fail in the commemoration of the thoughts on which this great day is founded! It is a common heritage of beatitudes deserving greatest celebration.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem—whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same—YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Use Cheese Atop Your Favorite Apple Crisp

Pecan Apple Crisp is the dressed-up version of your favorite fruit crisp. Just mix in a few sliced pecans with the cereal crumble topping, and serve this autumn dessert with a wedge of cheese, just as you would serve with apple pie.

Please the youngsters by baking the Pecan Apple Crisp in individual casseroles. Then top each dish with an apple-shaped slice of cheese.

In the crumble topping, remember that you can use either the regular or quick-cooking rolled oats. This favorite breakfast cereal adds nut-like flavor and crunch to the topping.

Pecan Apple Crisp

3 to 4 cooking apples
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup water
¼ cup butter
½ cup light brown sugar
¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup rolled oats, uncooked
⅓ cup sliced pecans

Wash, quarter, core, and mince apples (should have 3 cups). Combine with granulated sugar and spices mixed together. Transfer to a greased glass baking dish, 10 x 6 x 1½ inches, or to individual casseroles or baking dishes. Pour water over apples. Blend butter and brown sugar in a bowl; work in flour, salt, and rolled oats. When the consistency of crumbs, add pecans and place over apples, making holes in the top to let out the steam. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 35 to 40 minutes or until apples are done and the top brown. Serve warm in dessert dishes. Yield: 6 servings.

Ham-Banana Rolls

For unusual ham-banana rolls spread slices of "boiled" ham with prepared mustard, then wrap around firm bananas. Place the rolls in a baking dish and brush the tips of the bananas with butter or margarine. Pour a cheese sauce over them and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes.

Average Farm Income Listed For This Area

Allegany county farmers spend about $50 out of every $68 they earn per acre of their farms on operating expenses, according to state average estimates computed by the Committee for Conservation Now.

On the basis of the Committee's records, the average 150-acre commercial farm in the county earns about $10,000. Operating expenses run about $7,100, leaving approximately $2,900 for the farm family. Allowing a return of 5 per cent on investment, the average 150-acre farm produces $1,400 annually on the investment, and $1,500 for farm operator and family labor.

Operating costs for the state's 36,000 farms add up to around $196,500,000 out of annual income in the neighborhood of $275,000,000. This leaves approximately $75,000,000 for farm family income. Crediting $36,000,000 for return on investment, $39,000,000 is left for farm family labor.

The Committee explained that this cost situation is significant because it shows average farmers are not unduly profiting from food prices. Cost figures also show the importance of farm spending to the business economy. To the farmer, a cost breakdown can be a guide in planning operations.

The percentage ration of many farm expenses can be reduced by conservation farming practices, the committee added. Good soil management will produce greater yields of feed and prevent waste of fertilizer, for example, and farming on the contour rather than up and down slopes saves on labor and operation and upkeep of farm machines.

Kiwanis To Sell Apples Saturday

Cumberland Kiwanis Club will sell apples on Baltimore Street Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for the benefit of its underprivileged children's program.

The Mayor and Council granted permission for the sale Tuesday.

The council approved a refund of $39.63 to Theodore Shaffer for overpayment of taxes on property on Paca Street and granted the request the amount be applied to 1952-53 taxes. Also approved was a refund of $9 to Abe Feldstein for overpayment of water rent at 116 Wineow Street.

Alpha Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was granted permission to sell Christmas wreaths at Baltimore and Centre Streets December 18, 19, 20 and 22.

Referred to the city engineer and street superintendent was a request concerning hazardous conditions and surface drainage on Wills Creek Avenue to its intersection with Fayette Street. The condition was noted in a letter from George P. Manley, 103 Wills Creek Avenue.

An ordinance will be introduced December 15 calling for the closing of an unnamed alley in Bruce-Litzenburg Addition. Appointment of commissioners to assess damages is provided and the action is being taken at the request of the Schmidt Baking Company.

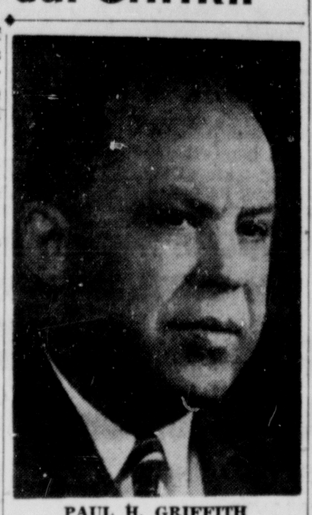
Griffith is a veteran of both World Wars and served as assistant secretary of defense in 1949, and was personal assistant to former Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson. Previous to that he was an executive in a private business enterprise in Washington.

He was appointed Small Business Advisor by Secretary Johnson on December 22, 1949.

Griffith was born in Uniontown, Pa., on April 8, 1897. Upon the declaration of war with Germany in 1917, he left school and enlisted in the Army. During World War I, he served as a non-commissioned officer in the 110th Infantry and 55th Infantry Brigade Headquarters, 28th Division,

Following that war, for a number of years he was a partner with his father, D. A. Griffith, in the wholesale dairy products business in Uniontown. He was active in the civic, fraternal and veterans affairs of his own community and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.



PAUL H. GRIFFITH

Griffith was one of the early members of The American Legion and served in various capacities with his post in Uniontown, the State of Pennsylvania and the National Organization. He is a life member of Lafayette Post No. 51 in Uniontown and was Post Commander in 1928. He became Commander of Pennsylvania in 1932, and later served as chairman of the National Americanism Commission, executive director of the Washington Office of the American Legion, and director of the National Employment and Veterans' Preference Committee.

In June, 1940, Griffith was commissioned a major, called to active duty, and assigned as assistant executive in the office of the Under Secretary of War. In February, 1942, he was promoted to lieutenant colonel and made a member of the American Technical Mission to India.

On returning to Washington, Colonel Griffith served as a member of the committee to set up essential activities and critical occupations for the War Manpower Commission and Selective Service System.

In February 1944 he was promoted to colonel and named chief of the Veterans Personnel Division of the Selective Service System. He was appointed to the President's Appeal Board of Selective Service upon his release from active duty in the armed services in October 1945.

Griffith was awarded the Legion of Merit, Silver Star and Purple Heart for his war services. His foreign decorations include the Belgian Officers Order of Leopold, French Chevalier, Legion of Honor of France, Croix de Guerre, Liberation Medal of France, Italian War Cross, Order of the Italian Star of Solidarity and the Greek Officer, Order of Phoenix and Cross of Honor.

He is a member of the board of directors of the American Red Cross, Community Chest and the American Legion Overseas Graves Decoration Commission.

Long Who's Who Record

Among his other accomplishments are appointment to a committee of three to check the religious background of Germany for President Truman in 1951; official visitor for Joint Chiefs of Staff to Army and Navy chaplains in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations, 1945; president of Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; president of DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind., from 1928 to 1936; professor of social ethics at the University of Southern California from 1917 to 1927.

These and many more are included in Who's Who in America, which gives the Bishop more than the usual amount of space to accredited persons listed therein.

He holds degrees from numerous colleges and universities. Among them are S.T.B., Boston U., 1915; A.B., University of Southern California, 1913; Litt. D., Boston U., 1930; graduate courses Boston U., Harvard, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology; he studied in Japan, China, and India and at the American Seminar, London, England. He has LL. D., Ohio Wesleyan, 1929, Wabash College, 1929, and USC, 1931; D.Sc., Rose Polytechnic Institute, 1935; L.H.D., DePauw U., 1938; and Litt. D., Northeastern U., 1941.

Is Californian

Bishop Oxnam was born August 14, 1891, in Sonora, Calif., and the 61-year-old church leader fathered three children, two boys and a girl. An older brother of the Bishop was a mining engineer in the Philippines when World War II broke out, and was killed there.

The youngest son, Philip, is now a lawyer, but was ordained a Methodist minister and served as a chaplain in World War II until badly wounded and forced to give up the ministry. The eldest son, Robert, is dean of fine arts at Syracuse University. The daughter, Ruth, is the wife of an attorney.

Still built like a fullback, Bishop Oxnam's genial, rugged countenance was wreathed in a big smile as he remembered his football playing days from 1911 to 1913 as varsity halfback at USC. He also remembers when California colleges began playing rugby and his team was trounced 43-0 by an Australian team when they played for the world championship in 1913. "They were great," he commented.

Both the Bishop and his wife are greatly interested in fine art and they treasure among their possessions an original painting by Sir Joshua Reynolds, famous English artist.

Titled "A Girl and Bird," it once hung in the home of Prince Yousoppoff, the assassin who killed the Russian Mad Monk, Rasputin, in 1916. Bishop Oxnam bought the painting several years ago while in Moscow.

Church Responsibility

Although he does not believe the church and state should be joined, Bishop Oxnam theorized the church could actively support many great public figures who are working toward world peace, letting their membership know of these men's great accomplishments so that they would not be entirely alone in their fight as so many political personages are, he explained.

John Foster Dulles' work on the Japanese Peace Treaty is a fine example, he pointed out, where a man put forth creative helpfulness instead of revenge into that important document.

Following his trip through his present jurisdiction, the energetic Bishop plans to visit India Christmas Day, furthering his inspiring work for the forces of Christ.

At St. Luke's Lutheran Church at 10 a. m. today the holiday will be marked. Rev. Dr. H. Hall Sharp, pastor, will preach on "The Song of Life."

The Cumberland Methodist Circuit will join congregations at 10 a. m. in Fairview Methodist Church. Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor, will speak.

Many Work

ning. Between 15 and 20 per cent of the workers for both railroads will be on the job today.

Bus transportation people also must fill their assigned tasks. Most of the Blue Ridge line's 300 drivers will be working. About the only lucky ones are those whose regular day off happens to be Thursday. Locally, the Cumberland Transit Line is functioning on a Sunday schedule. That means that about 14 of the 39 drivers are at work.

Milk and Bread

Offices of all six dairies serving the Cumberland area will be closed today, but the plant workers and deliverymen will be carrying on the usual process. Employes of the three local bakeries work a staggered schedule at Thanksgiving and other holidays. The inside men —all the way from dough mixer to wrappers—had Thanksgiving Eve off but must work today. The deliverymen are enjoying a holiday today.

Many of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company workers will have a holiday today, but not the operators. Because of Thanksgiving, there will be more long distance calls than usual. Telephone operators' work schedules are so arranged that they don't have to work every holiday. Those who are on the job today probably will not have to work Christmas Day. Then, too, some phone company "trouble shooters" are subject to call in an emergency.

Electric Power

Potomac Edison Company's Operating Department must work today to keep the power plant and sub-stations functioning so as to supply the city with electricity. Service men also are available to answer any trouble calls. A telephone operator will be on the job at the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company to notify service men of any trouble calls and to inform the gang foreman should an outside leak develop.

The care of the sick also must go on, Thanksgiving or not. Both Sacred Heart and Memorial hospitals arrange schedules which give those who have to work today an extra day off at some other time. Both note that the patient population always seems to go down sharply at a time like today. Those who are near recovery want to leave the hospital so they can spend a holiday at home. Others due to come to the hospital try to delay the day until after the special day. Usually, only emergency cases come to the hospitals on a holiday.

Public Safety

Of course, policemen and firemen must remain on the job over a holiday. Both city and state police report that only the men who normally have Thursday off are enjoying today's respite. A few of the city firement have been allowed to take today off as a part of their vacation. However, in general only those whose regular schedule calls for Thursday off are taking advantage of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Although most stores are closed today, many such establishments as restaurants, bars, confectionaries and drug stores will be open at least part of the day.

Obviously, then, in giving thanks today, we should not overlook the fact that we couldn't enjoy Thanksgiving as we do if a lot of people didn't stay on the job.

assessments and wage boosts for the Mayor and Council.

The City of Cumberland will also sponsor a new Civil Service Law for this city and there is a strong possibility that additional street improvements, including the Industrial Boulevard for South Cumberland, will be included in bond issue requests.

Ask New Charter

Frostburg — Proposals made by Frostburg include a new charter which would give the city more home rule, a $50,000 street improvement bond issue, a $50,000 water improvement bond issue and authority to float bonds for industrial expansion.

Lonaconing has asked that a bridge be built across Georges Creek from Ireland Street to Route 36.

The Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association has asked blanket raises of $300 for all fire companies except the two non-operating companies, Chapel Hill and Cumberland Hose.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners presented a legislative program including a strip mining bill, purchases of up to $3,500 without advertising, state maintenance of bridges at Luke and Pinto, a bill to have the state bear some of the cost of the Allegany County Infirmary and a request for a mental institution for the four Western Maryland counties.

Westernport's legislative program, the Delegation said it was informed, will be brought to the Assembly by Delegate Horace P. Whitworth.

Sanitary Law Changes

Metropolitan Sanitary Commission for Allegany County will ask a number of changes in the law which would make possible a public water supply for Mt. Savage.

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association of Cumberland will ask that wages of police and firemen be frozen at present levels and that paydays come every other week. Police will also seek a 40-hour week and firemen a change in shifts to cut working hours, plus retirement at age 55, mandatory at 60.

A number of changes in election laws will be asked by the Board of Election Supervisors.

Turkey Stuffing Long To Be Remembered

Since the traditional holiday turkey is now available the year around, we find it gracing the family table on some less festive occasions, too. With its more frequent use, a variety of stuffings, particularly the simpler ones, are finding quick acceptance by the busy homemaker. This Sausage Rice Stuffing is the essence of simplicity and is one sure to bring smiles of appreciation from the family.

Using packaged pre-cooked rice, which is ready in a jiffy, as the main ingredient, you'll soon have the fluffiest, tastiest stuffing you've ever made.

To accompany the turkey you'll surely like this Cranberry Relisn Salad which is so appropriate for a holiday meal where the emphasis is on the turkey.

Sausage Rice Stuffing

½ pound bulk sausage meat; 2 tablespoons butter; ½ cup chopped onion; ½ pound fresh mushrooms, chopped 2-⅔ cups packaged pre-cooked rice; 3 cups water; 2 cups diced celery; ½ cup chopped celery leaves; 3 teaspoons salt; ¼ teaspoon salt; ¼ pepper; ½ teaspoon savory; ¼ teaspoon thyme; ¼ teaspoon sage.

Place sausage meat in saucepan and saute until brown. Add butter, onion, and mushrooms and saute 3 minutes longer. Then add rice, water, celery, celery leaves, and seasonings. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. (Do not stir.) Cover and remove from heat. Let strand 10 minutes. Makes about 10 cups stuffing, or enough for a 10 to 12-pound dressed turkey. Turkey should be roasted at once after stuffing.

Cranberry Relish Salad

1 package orange-flavored gelatin; 1 cup hot water; 1 medium orange (unpeeled); 2 cups raw cranberries; 3 tablespoons sugar; 1 diced medium apple (unpeeled).

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water, and chill until slightly thickened. Cut orange into quarters and remove seeds. Put orange and cranberries through food chopper; add sugar and diced apple. Fold into slightly thickened gelatin. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

Orange Almond Sauce

1 cup sugar; cup water; ¾ cup thinly sliced, diced orange; 1-3 cup slivered, blanched, toasted almonds.

Cook sugar and water over low heat until sirup spins a thread about 8 to 10 minutes. Add diced orange to sirup and simmer until orange is transparent; stir in almonds. Makes about 1½ cups.

Liver, Country Style

6 slices bacon; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 2 cups milk; 1 pound sliced liver; ¼ cup buttered bread crumbs.

Cut bacon in squares, fry in heavy skillet until crisp. Remove bacon; add flour, salt, and pepper, stirring until smooth. Gradually add the milk and cook until thick and smooth. Roll liver slices in flour and brown in bacon fat. Place alternate layers of liver slices, bacon, and gravy in a butter casserole; top with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., about 45 minutes or until tender. Serves 6.

Apple Processor Says Prices Not Set At Meeting

Virginian Cites Close Competition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP) — An apple processor said yesterday he knew of no price figure being arrived at by other processors during a 1950 meeting they had with apple growers.

Layton S. Stockdale of the Zero Pack Co., Winchester, Va., testified that in his own mind he felt after the meetings that a $3.25 price per hundredweight was a "happy medium" between a grower demand for $3.50 and a processor-mentioned price of $3.

Stockdale, whose company is not involved, was called as a witness at a Federal Trade Commission hearing on alleged price fixing on raw apples between growers and five processing companies.

Also named in the complaint is the Appalachian Apple Service, Inc., a trade association serving the Appalachian belt in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Government attorneys have questioned Stockdale and other witnesses in detail concerning a grower-processor meeting Aug. 26, 1950, at Martinsburg, W. Va. The attorneys have sought to show that these growers and processors get together to fix prices on apples for processing.

Stockdale said that usually apples from Pennsylvania orchards run slightly larger than apples from the southern end of the belt and because of the size, supply a higher percentage of "meat."

Asked how he reconciled "the same prices" being paid by processors throughout the belt, Stockdale replied:

If the northern area came out with announced prices first, the processors of the southern end of the belt "would pretty much have to follow along."

If the southern area came out first with their prices, he added, he would take the southern price coupled with the advantage of the larger size Pennsylvania apple. But he noted that the variety, as well as the size, of the apple is a factor.

Examiner Frank Hier asked whether higher prices would be paid in the northern part of the belt if there were no announced prices.

"Not necessarily so," the witness replied, "for the reason that the varieties wanted by the processors" are grown mostly in the southern end of the belt.

Also, he said, there are more processors in the southern end to provide closer markets for the growers.

LaVale Girl, Maryland 4-H Dress Review Champ, To Leave For Chicago Tomorrow

Miss Nancy Long, 16-year-old LaVale girl, will leave Baltimore tomorrow to take part in the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Nancy, who is state winner in the dress review section, is among 22 girls and boys from 12 Maryland counties who will spend a week in Chicago.

The LaVale girl will model a brown and white checked suit made of Celanese material. The dress cost only $4.65.

A tall girl 5 feet 8½ inches) Nancy has trouble getting inexpensive clothes that fit to her satisfaction. So she uses a rather unorthodox method of making her own.

When she sees a garment she likes, Nancy goes home and copies it, using her little sister's doll as a model when she must do her own designing.

An active member of LaVale 4-H Club for years, Nancy is now junior leader of the club and is vice president of the 4-H Trail, county girls' 4-H organization.

Nancy and the other Maryland winners will be accompanied to Chicago by Dorothy Emerson, Mylo Downey and Sherard Wilson of the state 4-H office; Mrs. Joan Moreland, Arundel County assistant home demonstration agent; Wayne Kelly, assistant Harford County agent; Onedia Albaugh, Frederick County 4-H leader, and Evelyn Byrd Hutcheson, information specialist.

MISS NANCY LONG
A Pianist, Too

While there, the Marylanders will be among 1,800 guests who are expected to attend.

One Washington County girl also will attend. She is Kathleen Pryor of Hagerstown, state canning champion.

Keyser Grocer Forgets Store's 27th Anniversary

KEYSER — Otis Johnson, who's well known in Keyser for never forgetting the opening day of hunting or fishing season, almost forgot an important date this week.

Johnson, who runs a meat market and grocery on Armstrong Street, was halfway through his morning's work when he remembered the day was the 27th anniversary of his business.

When word got around, Johnson's friends dropped in to kid him about his memory and to help him celebrate, quietly.

Come deer season, or rabbit, squirrel, bass or trout season, Johnson never forgets. He closes shop and goes fishing or hunting, depending on the season. During fishing season, the sign usually reads "The Fish Are Biting."

Eleanor Hall Is Bride Of SFC. Smith

LONACONING — Miss Eleanor Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hall, of Alexandria, Va., became the bride of Sgt. First Class Roy A. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Smith, St. Mary's Terrace, Lonaconing, on November 1.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in the chapel at Fort Belvoir, Va., with Chaplain Reese officiating. The altar was decorated with palms and white mums and pompons, with lighted tall white tapers in branched candelabra.

The bride was attired in a navy blue irridescent nylon dress, with matching accessories, and a corsage of pink rosebuds. She wore a pearl necklace and matching earrings, gifts of the bridegroom.

Miss Carole R. Karl of Alexandria, Va., and Sgt. First Class John Wilkerson, of Fort Belvoir, were the attendants at the ceremony. A reception was held at the home of the bride in honor of the couple.

The bride is a graduate of Washington and Lee High School, Arlington, and is employed as a secretary in Alexandria National Bank. The bridegroom was graduated from Central High School, Lonaconing, class of 1947, had 3½ years of Far Eastern service and is now an instructor at Fort Belvoir. After a motor trip south they will reside in Alexandria.

Miss Colleen Smith, Baltimore, a sister of the bridegroom, attended the wedding and reception.

In 1888 Benjamin Harrison defeated Grover Cleveland for the presidency and in 1892 Cleveland defeated Harrison.

Bigger Turkey Crops Are Aim Of WVU Scientists

Today is the day that Tom Turkey traditionally is the center of attention, and scientists at the West Virginia University Experiment Station in Morgantown, W. Va., are doing their best to make Tom's annual entrance an even bigger event.

Factors affecting reproduction in the Broad-Breasted Bronze turkey are now being studied at the station. Station poultry husbandmen say that fertility and relatively poor egg production have always been serious problems in this large variety. The poor hatching performance of many strains, however, is a characteristic more often encountered.

Inbreeding in turkeys has been credited as an important cause of poor hatchability in the past. Station poultrymen say that, if continued long enough, very close inbreeding might have a serious influence on reproduction. However, various degrees of inbreeding were studied and inbreeding did not seem to be related to egg production or to fertility in these cases. Very close inbreeding had to be continued for four or more years before any adverse effects on hatchability were noted.

These studies were made using controlled matings in a small breeding flock of 100 birds. Station poultry husbandmen point out that in larger flocks very little inbreeding would occur. Even in small flocks, they say, a systematic scheme can be used to prevent close inbreeding.

Hatchability of the entire flock studied in these experiments increased steadily each year. Station poultrymen say that this increase probably has been due as much to environment as to selection. Holding the eggs in a cool, moist atmosphere and incubating them under optimum conditions has increased the hatchability of eggs from both low and high hatching families.

The Hardy County Tuberculosis and Health Association was formed in this county by a group at a public meeting at the Fire Hall here in June 30 of this year. The Board of Directors consists of Mrs. Robert Baker, Mrs. Woodrow Brill, Mrs. Steve Dudas, Ervin Emswiller, Mrs. Herman Freeland, Mrs. Joseph Frye, Mrs. John Harman, Mrs. S. L. Harper, Jr., George Hoke, Jr., Mrs. G. T. Leatherman, Jr., Rev. E. Sheesley, Mrs. Charles Shobe, Mrs. Richard Troy and Mrs. Orlando Wilkins.

Committee members are Mrs. Orlando Wilkins, Mrs. Allenbaugh, Mrs. Walter Wood, Mrs. Jesse Miller, Courtney Tusing, and Mrs. Harold Smith, Case Finding; Mrs. Nellie Leatherman, R. S. Dispanet, Health Education; Mrs. Richard Troy, Lacy Harweli, Virgil Mathias, Publicity; B. D. Hinegardner, P. W. Clarke and Ervin Emswiller, Finance. Mrs. Irvin Bowman was appointed as executive secretary and seal sale chairman by Clarke.

Every person who donates one dollar or more to the purchase of TB Christmas seals automatically becomes a member of the association and may attend any meeting and cast their votes.

Mrs. Bowman announces that two sheets of seals were sent to each person this year and it is hoped that the money will be returned for each sheet. Mrs. Bowman points out, however, that anyone who is unable to purchase any or all of the seals is requested to return the unused seals.

STRIVE FOR TURKEY DAY UPSET VICTORY—Allegany High School's Campers will strive for an upset victory today over the favored Fort Hill High Sentinels when the two teams clash in the annual Turkey Day contest today at the Greenway Avenue stadium at 2 p. m. Fort Hill has won the last three successive titles and Allegany will attempt to capture the first city win over the Sentinels for its new coach Roy Lester who is concluding his first season at the Campobello school. The Allegany squad, left to right: FIRST ROW—James Hosack, assistant coach, Ken McGraw, Dave Walton, Jim Hoffman, Joe Nave, Dick Rank, Charles Eirich, Norman Campbell, Ellis Wisler, Ralph Shaffer, Walt Bosley and Coach Roy Lester. SECOND ROW—Lee Weller, Allan Haines, Bob Smith, Ed. Joyce, Harry Hixenbaugh, Freddie Wartzack, Rodney Breedlove, Bernie Beerman, Bob Reiber, Vernon Lowery and Herb Gaither. THIRD ROW—Eddie Timmons, Dick Johnson, Joel Jacobson, Marshall Yankelevitz, Earl Royce, Don "Bucky" Rice, George Reynolds, Eddie Goldman, Kenneth Smith, Don Puhalla and Mason Sisk. This will be the 25th Thanksgiving Day contest in which the Alleganians have participated. The teams, to date, have won 12, lost 10 and tied two of these annual holiday skirmishes. They will be trying for their second triumph over a Hahn-coached eleven since the Fort Hill mentor began his career in 1942 at the Hilltopper school. Nave and Shaffer will co-captain the Camper team in the holiday classic.

SEEK FOURTH STRAIGHT CITY TITLE—Coach Bill Hahn's Fort Hill High Sentinels will strive for their fourth straight city title today when they clash with Allegany High's Campers in the annual Thanksgiving Day contest at Fort Hill stadium at 2 p. m. The Hahnmen can even their series with the Campers by winning today's clash. A victory for Allegany, however, would throw the football diadem into a three-way tie with LaSalle, Allegany and the Sentinels sharing the title. The Fort Hill squad, left to right: FIRST ROW—Wayne Couter, Norwood Barnes, James Martin, Gene Alderton, Bob Schade, Ronald Athey, William Steppe, Jim Farris, and Harold Hall. SECOND ROW—Bill Burke, William Allen, Tom House, Edward Cookerly, David Kennedy, Richard Bittner, Gene Weber, John Reitmeier, and Harold Gilpin. THIRD ROW—John McVicker, Bruce Lynn, Richard Brant, Robert Brant, Paul Reitmeier, James Stoops, Neil Bechtol, Don Rice, Dick Widdows. FOURTH ROW—James Long, Arthur Isom, James Crawford, Jack Andrews, Earl Grove, Richard Gilpin, Ken Poling, Jerry Landis and Bob Andrews. FIFTH ROW—Harry Apple, Arthur Breightner, James Crowe, Robert Williams, Russell Poling, Stanley Teets, Bill Murphy, Dale Hillegas, Ronald Whisner and William Shinholtz. SIXTH ROW—Head coach Bill Hahn, Assistant Coaches Bill McProuty and Joe Pellerzi, and Team Managers Melvin Boone, James Keller and Donald Anderson. Alderton and Athey will be co-captains for the tilt.

Allegany Win Would Result In Triple Tie

Topsy Turvy Season Has Fans Guessing; Game Set For 2 P. M.

Campers Copped Last In 1945; Sentinels Could Square Series

The good old American custom of stringing along with the champion until the titleholder has been dethroned is probably the reason why Fort Hill's Sentinels have been installed a slight favorite over their city rivals from Allegany High School as the teams await their twentieth meeting on the gridiron today at 2 p. m. at the local stadium.

It will be the 25th consecutive hanksgiving Day game in Cumberland since the holiday classics were inaugurated by LaSalle and Allegany in 1928 and it will mark the 16th between the Hilltoppers of William P. "Bill" Hahn and Campers of Roy Lester, who is completing his first season as grid mentor at Campobello.

Coach Hahn's teams have figured in seven Turkey Day tilts and their record is 5-1-1. Allegany, under four different coaches, namely, Herman Ball, Walter L. Bowers, Bert Harbert and Bob Pence have played in all of the games, winning 12, losing 10 and playing two ties.

Three-Way Tie Possible

Fort Hill can clinch its fourth straight city championship by winning or playing a tie today. An Allegany triumph, however, would result in a triple tie for the championship with each team having a 1-1-1 record. The Sentinels thumped LaSalle 32-6 early in the season while the Explorers hung it on Allegany 19-7 midway in the campaign.

Irish-USC Game To Be Seen On TV

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(INS)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association tonight granted the University of Notre Dame permission to "partially" televise its football game Saturday with Southern California.

Asa Bushnell, director of the NCAA's TV program, sent a telegram to the Rev. Edmund Joyce, C. S. C., executive vice president of Notre Dame, in which he said the Irish could present that portion of their game remaining after the completion of the Army-Navy game.

The service contest in Philadelphia is the regularly-scheduled "Game Of The Day" in the NCAA's restricted TV college football program. The Army-Navy game, carried by NBC to a nationwide audience, begins at 1:30 p. m. EST., while the Irish-Trojan game is slated to begin at 2 p. m. EST. in South Bend.

As You Were

(This is the 14th in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

On Thanksgiving Day in 1929 this player was the hero in Allegany's 7-0 win over LaSalle before

4,500 persons at Community Park. He got into the game as a substitute for Capt. "Red" Golden, who was injured in a previous contest, and his great kicking and ball - carrying sparked Walt Bowers' Campers to victory.

In that particular game Harold Welker, now V. F. W. commander of West Virginia, played the last three quarters at tackle with a broken nose. Bernard Bealky, now with the Western Maryland Railway police force, scored the only touchdown and this halfback converted by snaring a pass from Danner. In the final period LaSalle had one yard to go for a TD but failed to make it in four downs. The player pictured here was an All-Eastern end with Princeton's undefeated team (9-0-0) in 1933. Coach Fritz Crisler's Tigers turned down an invite to the Rose Bowl, Columbia accepted and beat Stanford. During the regular season Princeton beat the Lions, 20-0, and yielded one touchdown in nine games. This lad, his friends say, learned to punt in his bare feet and used to kick a football over a house on Altamount Terrace for practice. He also played basketball at Allegany. What's his name?

He is Dr. Hugh MacMillan and is now a medical surgeon in Denver, Colorado. He attended Exeter Prep School in New England before going to Princeton University.

Yale And Temple To Meet Next Year

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 26 (AP)—The Yale and Temple football teams will meet for the first time in a game here Nov. 7 next year, Yale Athletic Director Robert Hall announced.

Hall also reported that a new series between Yale and Army, one a traditional foe of Yale, is under consideration, but "nothing has been settled as yet."

Little Sentinels Capture Rec Title

The Little Sentinels defeated the East Side Ramblers yesterday at Penn Avenue field by a score of 12-0 to win the Junior High Division title of the Rec Touch Football League.

Jerry Rice scored both td's for the winners on 50 and 65-yard runs. The score:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| LITTLE SENTINELS | 6 | 0 | 0 | 6 | —12 |
| E. SIDE RAMBLERS | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 0 |

USC Lineman, Elmer Willhoite, Gets Top Award

Named Week's Best For UCLA Performance

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP)—Guards and tackles seldom get their hands on the ball during a football game, but when they do—watch out!

Big Elmer Willhoite, Southern California guard, got his mitts on the pigskin in the third quarter of last Saturday's game with UCLA. He did it by intercepting a forward pass.

Elmer, 216-pound senior, raced down the sidelines 72 yards to the UCLA eight yard line. The play set up USC's winning touchdown in the Trojan's 14-12 victory that put them in the Rose Bowl against Wisconsin.

The play today brought Elmer the Associated Press award as Lineman of the Week.

How come Elmer happened to intercept the pass?

"I'd moved off to my right expecting a run," he explained. "The first thing I knew there was the ball. I just took off."

And where was Elmer the rest of the game? Right in the thick of things, living up to his reputation of reveling in rough going. He is one of those rare 60-minute men left in the game, playing both offense and defense.

A tackle, "Blind Bill" Turnbeaugh of Auburn, also intercepted an aerial to set up the play that beat Clemson. "Blind Bill," also known as "Radar Bill" because of his nearsighted eyes, knew a pass play was on "because of the way I was blocked."

He "sort of drifted down the middle and ran right into the ball." He returned the ball to the Clemson 25 from where Auburn booted a field goal with 90 seconds left for a 3-0 victory.

Ed Meadows, Duke tackle, played one of the best games of his career against North Carolina. He made virtually half of his team's tackles.

Other linemen nominated: Tackle Ken Bridges, Wake Forest; and end Jack Lewis, Wake Forest.

Mont Is Shocked By Byrd's Blast

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 26 (AP)—Tommy Mont, backfield coach at Maryland, told the Columbus Quarterback Club last night that he was "greatly shocked" at a statement made by Maryland President H. C. Byrd.

President Byrd told the Washington Touchdown Club Monday that if the Terps had received the right kind of coaching, the outcome of the final two games might have been different.

Mont said that President Byrd has never interfered with the coaches on any matter pertaining to football. "President Byrd is the finest type of president a school can have," he said. "He is a former player and coach himself and realizes the problems the coaches have."

Mont said that Maryland isn't making any excuses for losing to Mississippi and Alabama.

LaSalle High School's best team in years is conceded an edge over Beall High School's Mountaineers in their seventh annual Thanksgiving Day football contest at Frostburg. The opening kickoff is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

Coach Ray Hull's eleven has had its ups and downs this season and entered today's battle with a 4-5 record yet has a chance to provide a stunning upset.

Beaten by Fort Hill and Donora, Pa., LaSalle boasts a 6-2 record and a victory today would give the Explorers their best record since 1931 when Pat Conway's eleven won seven, lost one and tied one.

Played Tie Last Season

Beall is not expected to fall over and play dead and therefore is expected to give Coach Norman F. Geatz's warriors a real battle. Last year's game ended in a 6-6 deadlock. In the five previous games LaSalle was returned the winner four times.

This game and the Fort Hill-Allegany tilt today will have something to do with settling the Cumberland individual scoring championship. Bobby Christ of LaSalle is the pace-setter with 76 points but Charles "Chuck" Eirich of Allegany is close on his heels with 72. John McVicker and Jim Farris of Fort Hill have 60 and 59.

Today's contest will be the 12th for LaSalle since Geatz took over the coaching reins late season. The Explorers have won eight, lost three and tied one.

16 Seniors With Teams

Sixteen gridders, nine from Beall and seven from LaSalle will be playing their final high school games today. The Mountaineers lose Paul Thompson, Leo Dickel, Billy Davis, Jim Beach, Jim Orr, Mac Smith, Jim Stevens, Bob Lloyd and Dick Wright. LaSalle's seniors are Marty Mullaney, Jerry Loibel, Jack Stegmaier, Paul Ackerman, Charles Kienhofer, Leo Smith and Fred Tabler.

Beach and Thompson will co-captain Beall while Mullaney and Ackerman will be LaSalle's leaders in the season's finale.

Here are the probable starting lineups:

Browns Take Offense Lead In Pro Loop

Redskins Are Tops In Pass Department

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26 (AP) — The Cleveland Browns slid into a three-way tie for first place in the National Football League's American Conference last weekend, but managed to take a firm grip on the loop's ground gaining honors.

The Browns picked up 309 yards while the runnerup San Francisco 49ers were moving a net of 200 yards last Sunday. As a result the Cleveland season's total is 3,188 yards to the 49ers' 3,053.

San Francisco held on to top spot in the yards gained by rushing department — 1,611 yards to 1,477 for the second place Chicago Cardinals.

Cleveland continued to sit atop the heap in the yards gained by passing section. The Browns have picked up a total of 1,926 yards through the air. The Los Angeles Rams and Green Bay Packers are tied for second with 1,590 yards each.

The Washington Redskins, with 52.2 per cent of their aerials completed, moved into first place in that department. San Francisco, first last week, dropped to second with a 51.2 per cent average.

Los Angeles took over first place in scoring with 242 points, shoving the 49ers back into second place with 233.

On the defensive side, Detroit and the New York Giants were tied for first, each allowing an average gain of 3.1 yards per rushing attempt.

New Attendance Mark Is Set By Harness Fans

$362,809,265 Is Bet By 7,903,500 Patrons

COLUMBUS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Harness racing fans set new national attendance and wagering records this year, the U. S. Trotting Association reported today.

New records also were established in state revenue and purse distribution by the 11 states which permit pari-mutuel harness racing.

The USTA reported a total of $362,809,265 bet on harness racing during the year—an increase of 19.34 per cent over last year's previous record high of $304,010,301.

Percentage of the national "take" returned to the various states in the form of tax revenue climbed even higher, jumping 23.02 per cent, from $16,380,584 to $20,150,778.

Attendance was up 9.62 per cent with 7,903,500 looking in at the parimutuel tracks against 7,210,082 a year ago. That figure, says USTA, does not take into account the estimated 8,800,000 who watched racing at 450 county fair tracks.

Only three states showed decreases in any of the revenue and attendance categories. Illinois had a 4.4 per cent drop in attendance; California a 3.60 per cent drop in revenue going to the state, and Delaware a 14.09 per cent drop in attendance.

Olivar Signs Three-Year Pact

Had Good Season As Yale Mentor

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27 (INS)—The Yale University athletic board announced today that football coach Jordan Olivar, who took over the job on an emergency basis this fall, has signed a three-year contract as head coach.

Olivar, who had only ten working days with his squad before the season opened following Herman Hickman's resignation, won seven games and lost only two. The campaign was climaxed by a 41-to-14 victory over Harvard.

Olivar left New Haven today to return to his home at Inglewood, Calif. He and his wife plan to visit friends and relaltives in New York and Philadelphia en route to Inglewood. He will return to Yale in January.

Penn-Cornell Clash Features Holiday Gridiron Slate Today

Army-Navy Sellout Is Tops Saturday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (AP) — The clash between Penn and Cornell and another chapter of the hardy Texas-Texas A&M rivalry top the Thanksgiving Day football program.

Penn can clinch the Ivy League championship if Coach George Munger's team bounces back from three straight losses to handle awakened Cornell at Philadelphia. There is even talk that Munger's job may hang in the balance if the team finishes under the .500 mark for the first time since 1938.

Penn Is Favored

The team records — Penn (3-3-2) and Cornell (2-6)—are reflected in the two-touchdown odds favoring Penn.

Texas (7-2) also is a two-touchdown choice over the Aggies, who have won only three games and only one in the Southwest Conference. Texas already is in the Cotton Bowl with Tennessee as a result of winning the conference title.

Colgate (4-3) is another two-touchdown pick over oft-beaten Brown (2-6).

Other games on tomorrow's program include VPI and VMI at Roanoke and Miami Ohio at Cincinnati.

The last heavy firing of the season comes Saturday with Army-Navy at Philadelphia and Southern California-Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. commanding top national interest.

Navy is a seven-point favorite over Army and Southern Cal., Western Rose Bowl representative, is given only a slight edge over the Irish, beaten by Pitt and Michigan State.

Ole Miss vs. Miss State

Mississippi, already selected to oppose Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl, winds up against Mississippi State. Other all-state pairings find Georgia Tech's unbeaten club facing Georgia, Alabama's Orange Bowl team playing Auburn, and Oklahoma A&M.

Saturday's program also includes Holy Cross-Boston College, NYU-Fordham, Southern Methodist-Texas Christian, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Washington vs. Washington State; Louisiana State vs. Tulane, Baylor vs. Rice, Virginia vs. William and Mary, Tulsa vs. Texas Tech and Wake Forest vs. South Carolina.

Brothers Buy Braves

BOSTON, Nov. 26 (INS)—Joseph Perini, vice president of the Boston Braves tonight announced that all stockholders of the National League Baseball Club of Boston, Inc., have agreed to sell their stock to the three Perini brothers.

Allegany Win

since the 13-12 game of 1945, losing five and tying one since that year and a loss for the Campers today would deadlock their series with the Hilltoppers at 9-9-2.

This is Hahn's eighth team at the Greenway Avenue school since he took over the reins in 1942. And this year's eleven is the first to lose more than one game. The 1952 Sentinels have copped seven and dropped two decisions. Over eight seasons Hahn's elevens have turned in the remarkable record of 62-7-4 for an amazing average of 89.9.

Results Baffle Fans

In trying to pick a winner today, the fans are baffled because of the fact Fort Hill lost to Martinsburg, 21-20, and Allegany whipped the same team 16-0. It's true that Hagerstown beat both AHS and Fort Hill by the margin of a touchdown but Montgomery Blair belted Hagerstown 25-6 and Allegany holds a 20-19 decision over the Silver Spring eleven. Then one must take into consideration the fact that Fort Hill whipped LaSalle, 32-6. And last but not least, AHS lost to LaSalle by two touchdowns.

Allegany's record for the current campaign is five wins, three defeats and one tie.

Perhaps the biggest blow suffered by Allegany this season was the loss of David Walton, regular fullback, through injuries. Since he's been out of there the Campers were jolted by LaSalle and had their hands full battling Elkins to a tie.

Co-Captains Are Named

Co-captains for today's game will be Joe Nave and Ralph Shaffer of Allegany and Gene Alderton and Ronald Athey of Fort Hill.

The seating capacity at the stadium has been increased to 10,000 but unless there is a last minute rush for pasteboards the paid attendance may hit between 7,000 and 8,000.

Fort Hill will sport white jerseys and Allegany will wear blue.

The musical part of the program will be provided by the bands of both schools.

This year Allegany High's cheering section will occupy the concrete stands on the west side of the field while Fort Hill will take over the wooden stands on the opposite side of the gridiron.

Four Out-Of-Town Officials

Out-of-town officials will be in charge of the whistle tooting. Fred P. "Chick" Weihl and Newton Anderson will be handling the local classic for the seventh consecutive season. The other officials will be Patrick A. Tork and John Semon of West Virginia University.

Fire Fighters Report On Forest Blazes

PARSONS—E. B. Olson, forestry aid, stated recently that as of November 17, Cheat District of the Monongahela National Forest has 23 forest fires within its protective boundary.

Over 200 acres were burned. During the past 15 years, there has been an average of six fires a year.

Olson said a study of the fires and their causes showed three fires caused by old men, all past 70, cleaning up around their farms during the spring season.

Five fires were caused by fuel sparks from railway engines. The railway right of way has been inspected and was found normal. This is four more fires than usually is expected from this source, due, it is thought, to the extreme arid conditions of forests.

Smokers have been responsible for five fires, one by a careless fruit picker, two by people driving along forest roads, one by a squirrel hunter who sat down to rest and left burning tobacco and one by a hunter who left burning tobacco.

Another fire was due to fuel sparks from the flue of a home near the woods and another by some children playing with matches. Last and most serious covers eight fires of incendiary origin. Three of these fires were set by one man, Ivan D. Taylor, Grafton, who became irritated by the closing of hunting-season October 23.

Three other fires were set in Canaan area on the night of October 31. Two other fires were set. Further investigations may disclose the guilty party, Olson said.

Sausage Time

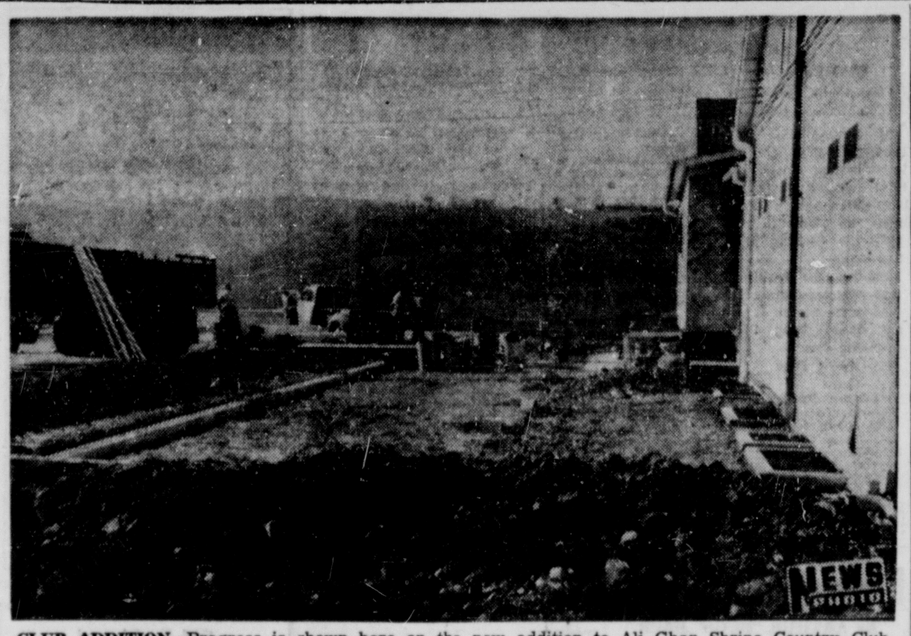
Serve sausage and sweet potatoes together in this manner. Form bulk sausage into small balls. Place them over mashed sweet potatoes in a casserole. Cover closely and cook in a 350 degree F. oven for 45 minutes to 1 hour.



CLUB ADDITION—Progress is shown here on the new addition to Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club house. The addition is designed to more than double existing kitchen facilities and add several small dining rooms to care for small clubs, groups and private dinners. Russell G. Robeson, Potomac Park is the contractor.

Senior Citizens Get "A" For Vegetable Effort

Foods rich in vitamin A help maintain the healthy outlook and look of health of the senior citizen. The person sixty years or older needs this vitamin, just as do younger family members, to help maintain normal vision, clearness of eyes and skin, and keep the linings of nose, mouth and inner organs in good condition. If these surfaces are weakened, bacteria can invade more easily.

Vitamin A foods are liver, egg yolk, butter, whole milk and cream, cheese made from whole milk or cream and fortified margarine. The leafy green vegetables and yellow vegetables and fruits, are the important plant sources for vitamin A.

The green and yellow vegetables provide worthwhile amounts of riboflavin and iron and some calcium as well as vitamin A. If eaten raw or properly cooked ....in little water and just until tender...some of these vegetables can be counted on for vitamin C.

Broccoli, carrots, kale, spinach, pumpkin and winter squash head the vitamin A vegetable list. Next in importance are green asparagus, green beans and lima beans, brussel sprouts, green cabbage, leaf lettuce, peas and peppers. Cantaloupes, apricots and peaches are fruit sources of this vitamin.

Do not skimp on a daily serving of vitamin A foods. Three ounces of liver is a recommended portion or one half to a cup of the vegetables.

If you consider vegetables too bland, pep them up with seasonings such as onion, chives, parsley or mint. Spicy touches of thyme, marjoram or cinnamon make vegetables more of a taste adventure. Vegetable duets can vary the service....lima beans and corn, green beans with onion rings, peas with canned mushrooms. A cheese sauce dresses up asparagus or broccoli. Appealing color combinations sell the eye and appetite. For example, serve sweet potatoes with broccoli, green beans and spiced beets, turnip greens with sliced tomato.

Here is a recipe using economical pork or beef liver in a loaf that makes a delicious hot or cold main course.

Pork Liver Loaf

1 pound beef or pork liver; 3 slices bacon; 1 medium onion; 3 tablespoons chopped parsley; ¼ diced celery; ¼ cup chili sauce; 2 cups soft bread crumbs; 2 eggs, slightly beaten; 1 ½ teaspoons salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; ¼ teaspoon dry mustard.

Place liver in hot water for 10 minutes; drain. Put liver, bacon and onion through food chopper using coarse blade. Add parsley, celery, chili sauce, crumbs, eggs, salt, pepper and dry mustard. Pack firmly in loaf pan 8x4x2½-inches. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour. Serve hot or cold. YIELD: 6 servings.

Bologna Cups

Bologna cups make clever serving for hot potato salad. Without removing the casing, brown slices of large bologna in a frying-pan in lard or drippings. As the meat heats, it curls up into little cups, perfect for holding potato salad

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 26 (INS) — How well I remember the death of Russ Columbo, accidentally shot by a friend with an old dueling pistol. It was 18 years ago, and we were away for the Labor Day weekend and came back to be with Carole Lombard with whom Russ was very much in love at that time.

For years there has been talk of making Russ' life story, but nothing happened. Now I am told by Maurice Duke that he has closed a deal with Russ' two brothers and sisters to film the story with Perry Como in the star role. The deal for Perry was made with Tommy Rockwells, Como's manager.

Such favorite songs as "Prisoner of Love" and "You Call It Madness" will be featured among the 20 songs Como will sing.

So happy is Paramount that Guy Mitchell's test is so good, that tentative plans have been made to star him in an original musical based on a Brett Hart character.

Mitchell, who is homespun, and who has a really western flavor to his singing, could very well turn into another Roy Rogers, Gene Autry or Hopalong Cassidy, and, believe me, there's gold in these cowboys.

The test Mitchell made has been flown to New York for the top brass to see.

Thanksgiving is always a day of rejoicing and prayers of thanks for Americans. We give thanks that our glorious country is strong and still a beacon of light throughout the world despite the threatening clouds.

Some of our Hollywood movie families are attending church services on Thanksgiving Day. Others of our brightest stars are far from home.

Two of our travelers, John Ford and Clark Gable, and the "Mogamo troupe (minus Ava Gardner, who is ill in London- are eating wild dindon farci in the jungles of Kenya. (Translated, this means turkey with truffles, with cranberry sauce flown in from the states.)

George Murphy, on his seventh transcontinental tour since May, is flying in time to sit down with his family.

Dick Powell and June Allyson moved into their new home in time for Thanksgiving dinner, but it will be simple because they aren't completely unpacked.

Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis are following the snows to New England, hoping for a "white" Thanksgiving with friends.

And, may I add, wherever you are, at home or abroad, I wish you health and happiness and inner peace on our day of Thanksgiving.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The many Hollywood friends of Jimmy McHugh will have a chance to see his act Dec. 26 when he opens at Ciro's. He has been booked there with the five young singers who will sing his numbers. He opens at the Riverside in Reno Dec. 11.

Betty Hutton flies in via TWA from London to spend Thanksgiving with her children.

Rumor says that Fifi D'Orsay will marry Lt. John Carpenter of the Marines.

Mrs. Marie McHenry, the mother in-law of Ed Pauley, has received offers from movie companies for the title of her song, "Let's Dance Tonight."

Paulette Goddard arrived in town yesterday to spend Thanksgiving with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Don Jacobson. She's wearing an engagement ring on her finger, believe it or not, put there by Erich Maria Remarque.

Igor Dega, Ann Dvorak's ex, with Barrie Chase, daughter of Writer Bordon Chase, at the Mocambo.

Saturday Alan Ladd's leading lady, Susan Stephen is marrying Lawrence Ward in London. Alan will give the bride away.

Jim Morgan, producer of the TV show "Queen for a Day," says that the things the women ask for, in the order named, are washing machines, layettes and false teeth.

Van Heflin, who has been a big hit in Washington in "The Strike," was invited to address the National Press Club there. He talked about the superiority of Hollywood products versus foreign films over a long period.

At the opening of "I am a Camera" Celeste Holm was with Charles Lowe, and Cobina Wright with Hyatt Von Dehn.

That's all today.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Distributed by INS)

Thankful we don't need an airlift for our turkey. We swing 'em by the feet.

Thankful Washington is taking its twentieth and last turkeroo out of the deep freezement.

Thankful the horn of plenty is tuba sized.

Thankful we will soon know if it's peace or war. The UN is a very slow oven.

Thankful that the campaign speeches are off the dial. The only improvement television has over radio is you can say, "Look who's talking!"

Thankful the New Jersey Turnpike has reduced the speed limit to 35 miles an hour. Hope the supermarkets will do the same thing for shoppers pushing those wire baskets on wheels.

The Halls of Montezuma are in Mexico, named after the Emperor Montezuma, who ruled in the 16th century.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear Mom and Pop, Annie ...Brant, who died 17 years ago, Th...sgiving Day, Nov. 28, 1935, and V... M. Brant, who died Aug. 12, 1951.
...one knows how much I miss you.
No one knows the bitter pain
I have suffered. Since you left me
Life has never been the same.
They are missed very much by
GEORGIA

FAIRALL—In loving memory of our beloved loved one, Edward Joseph (Buddy) Fairall, who died 1 year ago, Nov. 28, 1951.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts,
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
LOVING WIFE, SON, FATHER & MOTHER-IN-LAW

All American Files Objection To Local Stops

Firm Asks Renewal Of Lease At Port

All American Airways last week filed exceptions to a decision which would provide air service to Cumberland, one day after the firm asked a conference to renew its lease for the use of the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The airline took exception to the initial decision of James S. Keith, examiner, in a case involving renewal of its certificate.

The first objection was to the conclusion of the examiner that Cumberland should not be eliminated from Segment 1 of Route 97.

Cites Statement

AA termed the decision erroneous, citing the following statement:

"From a safety standpoint, the CAA safety agent testified that he considered Cumberland one of the most hazardous airports in the East and that the ceiling visibility limits could not be lowered substantially even though night lighting facilities were placed on the field."

Objection was also raised to Keith's conclusion that Cumberland be retained as an intermediate point on Segment 1 of Route 97, adding:

Suggests Change

The firm asked that if Cumberland is retained Cumberland and Johnstown, Pa., would be intermediate stops for the line between Hagerstown and Pittsburgh.

The examiner recommended that All American operate schedules between the Baltimore and Washington terminals to Pittsburgh via Hagerstown, Altoona and Johnstown, or via Cumberland, Altoona, Johnstown and Pittsburgh.

In its November 18 letter to the city, All American pointed out a renewal agreement will be necessary for the existing lease for the use of the city airport and asked that a meeting be arranged to discuss the subject.

Local Delegates Prepare To Push Legislation

The Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly is making plans to expedite the heavy schedule of local legislation expected when the Legislature opens on January 7.

Charles M. See, chairman of the Delegation, said the county legislators have asked that all local bills be mailed early to him or to Senator Robert B. Kimble so they can be disposed of beforé March.

State-wide bills, he added, will begin pouring into the legislative hoppers early in March and will leave little time for local measures.

The deadline for the introduction of local legislation, Chairman See said, is 10 days before adjournment of the 90-day session.

He warned, however, that there will be virtually no chance to schedule a hearing on any controversial measure which is introduced just before the deadline.

Hold Conferences

During the past few months, the Delegation has held conferences with Allegany County organizations which expect to seek legislation in the 1953 Generàl Assembly.

See said there have been no further requests for conferences, but that if any group desires such a meeting, an effort will be made to arrange it.

During the conferences, the Delegation held informal discussions with a number of organizations on legislation it may be asked to sponsor. See emphasized the Delegation has made no commitments whatever.

List Is Presented

Here is an incomplete outline of the legislation the Delegation has been told may be asked Allegany County organizations:

City of Cumberland—bond issue for Bedford and Frederick Street improvements; general improvement bond issue of $110,000 providing $20,000 for the Fire Department, $20,000 for the municipal airport, $45,000 for City Hall improvements and $25,000 for Constitution Park; a bond issue for a new street between Bedford and Hay streets; increase or lifting of the ceiling on the levy for operating expenses, freezing of present wage rates, change in the day of finality for

Renowned Methodist Leader Visits City In Get-Acquainted Tour Of His Charges

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON
News Staff Writer

His simple philosophy: "It's been fun."

Those three words explain Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam more than any biography ever could. And the unassuming ex-football player who now has jurisdiction over 1,691 Methodist churches in the Washington area has expanded that philosophy to the fullest in an eventful and varied career that has carried him all over the world, meeting rich and poor alike, befriending both great and unknown as he leads his people ever forward in the life of Christ.

A tireless worker who is so modest he disliked taking the time to tell of his accomplishments, Rev. Bishop Oxnam is touring the state of Maryland as a part of his plan to meet each and every minister at each and every church in his charge.

No Conducted Tour

Traveling with his wife, the former Ruth Fisher whom he married in 1914, Bishop Oxnam does his own driving as he personally seeks out every community with a Methodist church, desiring to meet and know that community and the people who live there.

"I don't want a driver," he explained, "because this way I can go where I want and see what I like without feeling that I've been taken on a conducted tour."

Present plans call for the Bishop and his charming wife to visit at least 20 churches every day, traveling more than 15,000 miles as he checks the economic and cultural background of every church community.

"Statistical records don't prove anything," Bishop Oxnam explained, "so I try to meet and see all the ministers and charges in my care."

Has Covered County

Appointed to the Washington area, which includes Delaware, Maryland, Central Pennsylvania and part of West Virginia, just a few months ago, Bishop Oxnam already has visited most Methodist churches in Allegany County.

His current trip encompasses the Hagerstown district, of which Allegany County is a part, and which is one of 14 districts in his charge. Altogether some 80 churches are in this district.

This wonderfull man is one of 37 Methodist bishops in the United States leading the Methodist temple and administrative body throughout the world, a body which has spent over $500,000,000 on 124 educational institutions in this country.

Has Important Charge

He has charge of the administration of the church, the educational facilities and hospitals in his area including American University in Washington, D. C., where he now resides and has his main offices.

Explaining part of his work, Bishop Oxnam revealed plans to convert American University to a Methodist school of international service in the future, a school of diplomatic service and teaching.

The Bishop, is one of six presidents of the World Council of Churches, a group of 163 of the greatest churches in the world, representing 44 nations.

Elected to his present status in the Methodist Church at the general conference held in 1936, he gained the necessary two-third majority needed to be elected from the representatives of 52 nations who attended. This council meets every four years.

Regular European Visits

In recalling several of his past experiences Bishop Oxnam said he goes to Europe two or three times a year, always traveling by air.

He remembered an incident in February of last year when while some 300 miles from Goose Bay, Labrador, flying to the States from London, one of the four motors of his plane exploded and the trip was completed on three engines. "I was a bit worried," he added.

A very learned man, he is very well informed on drama, politics, sports, movies, theatre and industry, and numbers among his personal friends such personages as David Lillienthal, former head of the Atomic Energy Commission, Charles E. Wilson, former Defense Mobilizer, the present Archbishop of Canterbury, whose enthronement he attended in 1945, the Barrymore family of stage, screen and radio, and many other theatrical notables.

He was a member of the civilian advisory committee of the U. S. Navy during World War II and was well acquainted with the late James V., Forrestal, then Secretary of the Navy.

Many Work So Others May Enjoy Thanksgiving Holiday

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Today is Thanksgiving Day, one of the significant national holidays, and most of us are enjoying a day off from work.

Did you ever think what kind of a holiday it would be should everyone have the day off from work? There would be no amusements, no telephone service, no public transportation and we might be without gas and electricity and have no fire or police protection.

IS PROMOTED — William H. Shockley, Camas, Wash., has been promoted from assistant technical supervisor to sulphite mill shift foreman of the Camas Division of the Crown Zellerbach Company. A son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shockley, 210 Schley Street, he is a graduate of Penn Avenue High High School and a chemistry graduate of Western Maryland College. Since joining the firm in 1950, Shockley served in the San Francisco sales department and later became development chemist and assistant technical supervisor. He lived at 1569 N. W. 3rd Place, Camas, with his wife , two sons and a daughter.

Work At Game

Take the big attraction today, for instance. The Fort Hill-Allegany football game could not be played if some 140 persons didn't work on the holiday.

In addition to the coaches and officials, some 100 men must work as ticket salesmen, ticket takers and ushers at the "Turkey Day" game, according to Victor D. Heisey, principal at Fort Hill. What's more, 40 auxiliary policemen as well as some of the regular officers must be on the job to direct traffic and assure order at the stadium.

But aside from the football game, many businesses in the Cumberland area must continue to function today pretty much as on a normal working day.

Amcelle Operates

Officials at the Amcelle plant at Celanese estimate that about 1,575 of the 4,000 employes must remain on the job throughout Thanksgiving Day to keep the manufacturing process going. Among the Celanese employes who will be working are some 600 textile, about 500 in spinning and related work, some 225 in cellulose acetate and over 180 in various engineering jobs. Cafeteria workers, firemen, guards and nurses also must be on duty at the plant.

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company is observing the holiday, being closed from 11 p. m. Wednesday until 11 p. m. today. However, to compensate for the holiday, the plant will operate both tomorrow and Saturday to get in a five-day work week.

Train Crews Work

Although many employes of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway have been granted holidays today, it is just another working day for the train crews and other employes of the line who must be on the job to assure that the trains keep run-

Letters Assigned For New Plates On County Cars

Treat Explains Details Of System

Allegany County motorists who buy their automobile license plates in the county next March will get new plates bearing the letters GH or GJ plus four numbers.

Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat, who serves as license plate agent for Allegany County, said he has received a sample plate from the State Department of Motor Vehicles and some of the details about the new arrangements for the new year.

Next year will mark the first time that Maryland will use combinations of letters and numbers on its license tags. In the past the plates have simply carried a series of numbers. The state also will abandon its black and white color combination and will replace it with the state's colors of black and gold. The single plate will be black with gold lettering.

The new combination of letters and numerals is designed to assist law enforcement officers in spotting the plates. However, in order to get a plate bearing the Allegany assigned letters of GH or GJ, they must be obtained from Treat's office.

All plates ordered directly from the office of the Department of Motor Vehicles in Baltimore will be in the D series no matter to what part of the state they be mailed.

The plates on sale here will run from GH 1001 to GH 9999 and from GJ 1001 to GJ 9999. All double and triple zeros will be eliminated throughout the state.

Treat reports that motorists have the privilege of getting plates here at the Court House by paying 15 cents per plate to cover handling expense. If mailed to the Court House, 15 cents additional for return postage will be required.

Plates will go on sale about March 1 for the year running from April 1, 1953 to March 31, 1954. Truck plates, running from May 1, 1953 to April 30, 1954 will be sold through the month of April.

Forced Landing Brings CAP Area Alert

Civil Air Patrol units in Maryland were alerted early this week when a light plane carrying three men failed to land at Bainbridge after taking off from Akron, Ohio.

State Police at LaVale said they received a telephone call from an Akron man Monday night after a plane carrying his son and two other young men failed to arrive at its destination.

The caller, Delmer Van Hook, said the small Stinson plane flown by Robert Brown and carrying Robert Van Hook and William O'Neill of Akron as passengers, had not been heard from.

State Police checked with CAP officials here, who began tracing the plane from field to field along its route.

They learned it had developed engine trouble shortly after taking off from Cumberland, where it had gassed up. Brown made a forced landing near Hancock, discharged his two passengers and took off alone for Hancock, then Hagerstown, for repairs.

By the time repairs were completed, the men were far behind schedule and cancelled the rest of the trip. Soon after CAP volunteers had learned what had happened, Van Hook's family telephoned again from Akron to say the plane had arrived safely.

Barbara Troxell To Return Here For "Messiah" Dec. 9

The Cumberland Choral Society will present its traditional performance of Handel's "Messiah" on Tuesday night, December 9, in Allegany High School Auditorium to open again the Christmas season in Cumberland.

The oratorio has been given each year since 1939 with the exception of a lapse during the war years of 1942 to 1946.

Traditional with the "Messiah" will be the appearance of soprano soloist Miss Barbara Troxell of New York, who has been singing the same role here since 1939 with one exception. That was when she was making her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Miss Troxell since her first appearance here in 1939 has presented concerts in Town Hall and Carnegie Hall in New York; the Brooklyn Academy of Music; radio appearances over all major networks; has been soloist with the New York Oratorio Society; the Philadelphia Orchestra and other noted organizations.

She has been working with such conductors as Eugene Ormandy, Leopold Stokowski, Leonard Bernstein and Sir Thomas Beecham.

In addition to her orchestra appearances, Miss Troxell, a lyric-type soprano, also appears occasionally with the Metropolitan Opera Company and makes records.

Appearing in Washington two weeks ago, Miss Troxell drew these plaudits from the music critics of two of the Capital's leading newspapers:

"To sing one solid hour, with hardly a pause between groups of songs, as Barbara Troxell did last night in the National Gallery of Art, is a feat of endurance. And what unusual songs they were. The majority unknown because the type of voice which can do them justice is rare . . . Each of the selections presented set off some special angle of her voice technique and musicianship. x x x"

"Barbara Troxell entered a winning bid last night in her National Gallery program. On every count she qualifies for top honors. Any singer will have to go a long way to equal her accomplishment.

"The perfect style Miss Troxell displayed in these songs was matched by a rhythmic excitement often lacking in art song programs. She capped it all with vocal richness and beauty."

ABL Planning Rocket Revue Next Month

Seventeen departments of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory will be represented in the Choral Group during the forthcoming Rocket Revue planned for December 5 at the auditorium of Allegany High School.

Proceeds of the production will be used to support the annual Christmas Basket project started by ABL a few seasons ago. Acts will include employes of the laboratory as well as members of their families.

Last year 60 huge baskets of food and toys for deserving families were delivered for Christmas day. Employes contributed a total of $500 and the Union at ABL contributed 60 chickens, while another group bought milk for each basket, and other groups gave canned goods and staples.

Choral Director will be Helen Baird. The following people throughout the plant are in the Choral Group:

Thanksgiving Foodstuff Given To 78 Families

Some 78 deserving families of Cumberland will enjoy a Thanksgiving Dinner today as a result of contributions of food from students of Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools and the Girl Scouts of the city.

Jeanette A. Bonig, executive-secretary of the Associated Charities said city trucks aided in making the deliveries.

Pilots To Spend Day Looking For Missing Airplane

Western Maryland Civil Air Patrol pilots last night were planning to spend Thanksgiving Day flying over rugged West Virginia terrain in the search for a light plane which has been missing since Saturday.

Warren Mullenax of Cumberland, commanding officer of Fort Cumberland Flight, CAP, said high winds yesterday prevented the searchers from looking for the Navion plane which was last heard from Sunday afternoon in the Martinsburg area.

Mullenax said the gusty weather made search-flying all but impossible, since planes would have had to stay too high in the air to have much chance of spotting the green-painted light plane.

The ship, piloted by a man named Schols, was bound from Reading, Pa., to Pine Bluff, Ark., when it disappeared. Some authorities at first felt that Schols might have been forced to deviate from his flight plan and had failed to notify the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

But searchers yesterday said Schols is a competent commercial pilot who would not likely have failed to notify authorities if he were forced to land anywhere other than at his destination.

Eight local CAP fliers combed 2,000 square miles of West Virginia Teusday, and the Air Force sent in a big amphibious Albatross to join the search.

Searchers said they felt sure Schols is down somewhere in West Virginia. Whether he may have crashed or made an emergency landing is their principal concern, and Mullenax said the CAP hopes to find the missing plane and pilot before the weather turns colder.

FLOOD CONTROL—Like a huge paved highway in appearance, this progress picture shows the scope of the channel work near the city limit line in the Narrows, as Wills Creek is paved and sidewalls are completed. In the distance a coffer dam which has washed out can be seen, letting the waters of the creek flow over the new pavement. This same pattern of construction is planned for Wills Creek and Potomac River through the city. Workmen can be seen here setting forms for an abutment.

Merchants Given Warning Of Fires During Yule Rush

With the approach of the Christmas season, store owners or managers are warned not to become careless about fire hazards during the hectic shopping rush.

Several fire safety precautions for storekeepers have been outlined by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker in cooperation with the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

1. Several times a day, dispose of cartons and waste materials that accumulate from unpacking goods.
2. Clear back rooms and cellars of such materials each day.
3. Allow smoking only under controlled conditions.
4. Keep aisles and exits clear.
5. Drill store clerks in the use of fire extinguishers and other equipment for the control of small fires.
6. For decoration, use non-flammable or at least slow-burning materials and keep them away from electric light bulbs.
7. Call in qualified electricians for new wiring or extensions; have the work inspected.
8. Check fuses; be sure each one is properly sized for the circuit it protects.

Parker added that fires increase during the winter, and figures show fire losses hit their peak in December and continue high through March.
